WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Johnson's call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge generally ranges from lukewarm to chilly, with few members except some Democratic leaders offering unqualified support.

Some other Democrats joined in the expected Republican opposition to the long-awaited tax hike request, Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., of the Senate-House Economic Committee called it a blunder that would hamper business growth and thus generate little new revenue.

Mills: Uncommitted

And Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said only: "I'm uncommitted; committed to no one, one way or the other."

Mills, who ranks as perhaps the foremost tax expert in Congress, has remained noncommittal since Johnson first proposed a surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes last January. At that time Johnson urged a 6 per cent surtax.

But the Arkansas Democrat revised the Ways and Means Committee's schedule to provide at least two weeks of hearings beginning Aug. 14. The hearings will be interrupted Aug. 17 and 18 when the House is scheduled to consider Johnson's bill to increase Social Security benefits and taxes.

Almost a man, members who discussed the proposals Johnson sent to Congress Thursday agreed that if a tax hike is enacted at all, it won't be by Oct. 1—the date the President asked the surcharge on individual income taxes to start.

And veteran members of the Ways and Means Committee said it never has been willing to make retroactive a tax increase on individuals. Johnson asked the matching 10 per cent increase on corporate income taxes be made retroactive to July 1.

A later date for both seemed likely, if there are to be increases, perhaps Oct. 1 for the so-called 'guns and butter' economic policy."

Noting Johnson's warning that the budget deficit for the current year could reach $29 billion without the tax boost and tighter reins on spending, Miller added:

"His concern that such a deficit would cause inflation and high interest rates should have been shown a year and a half ago when he told the American people that we could afford to fight the war in Vietnam and increase the pace of Great Society domestic programs at the same time."

Some Exempt

"I am becoming particularly disturbed by the Johnson administration's policy of blaming every economic ill in this country on the war in Vietnam," said Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, a member of the Senate Finance Committee.

Johnson specified the surcharge would not apply across the board—some 16 million persons in the lowest taxpaying brackets would be exempt. Thus a single person making no more than $1,900, a couple up to $3,600 or a family with two children up to $5,000 would have no surtax to pay.

But a $10,000 income typically would bear $174 more in taxes for a single person, $134 for a childless couple, $111 for a family of four. At $20,000 the increases would be $492, $348 and $316. All these figures assume standard deductions.

There were some suggestions taxpayers above the lowest brackets should have a portion of their income exempt from the surtax.

Other proposals were for an excess profits tax or a higher surtax on corporate than individual income. Ways and Means committee member Al Ullman, D-Ore., said he is pushing a 5 per cent individual, 10 per cent corporate formula.

And Republicans, as well as some Democrats, called for strictest economy to minimize or even avert any tax increase. Business reaction was mixed, but leaned toward accepting Johnson's case for the tax hike. The man in the street seemed less enthusiastic, however, an informal AP survey around the country indicated.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said: "The President has not made a case for an income tax increase. I will not concede that the present level of federal spending cannot be cut back sufficiently to avoid a tax increase."

Johnson said the surtax would yield $6.3 billion in the year that began July 1. He recommended also postponing scheduled excise tax drops on automobiles and telephone service for another $300 million in the same year. The yields would be greater in the following year.

'Hate Whites' School to Be Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — While a Republican senator asks whether the Office of Economic Opportunity is "subsidizing rioters" with federal funds, the anti-poverty agency is moving to investigate a Nashville, Tenn., summer school accused of teaching Negro children to hate white people.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said he accepts testimony of Nashville Police Capt. John A. Sorace that antipoverty funds are involved in financing of the school.

The OEO denied any of its funds had gone to the school—but it acknowledged a contract had been signed between the school and the Nashville agency administering antipoverty programs there.

$7,700 Involved

Sorace insisted his information is accurate, but he told the Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday it came from a police informant who could not be publicly identified.

Sorace said OEO funds are being funneled into a summer school directed by Fred Brooks, Nashville chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. He charged leaders of that organization incited racial violence in Nashville last April.

The OEO, quickly denied Brooks is on the payroll, saying his name had been submitted but not approved. In Nashville, Brooks, 20, said whether

Favors City Manager, But Not Me: Mayor

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Kingston's mayor said this morning that he is in favor of a city manager but he doesn't want that man to be Raymond W. Garraghan.

Mayor Garraghan told The Freeman this morning, "It's the only thing we can do." The mayor was referring to a city manager type of government which would make the position he now holds little more than a figurehead.

Garraghan's Choice

Garraghan was asked which position he would want if a city manager form of government were set up, mayor or manager.

He said he wants to be the mayor, with a healthy slice in salary.

At present Kingston's mayor makes $10,000 per year. Garraghan suggested a $4,000 salary for the mayor with a $2,000 a year expense account if a city manager were appointed.

Salary for a city manager was also discussed with the mayor saying, "You can't get a qualified man for less than $20,000 per year. Even if you offered that salary it's no guarantee that you'll get somebody. These city managers are in short supply."

That $20,000 figure has been mentioned by the mayor before. Earlier this week he claimed that he was worth $20,000 a year for all the responsibilities he has. At that time he suggested an assistant whose pay would be in the neighborhood of $8,000 per year.

At present the mayor runs a one-man office which executes a $4 million-plus municipal budget.

Mayor Garraghan is apparently not the only city executive running a one-man office. Poughkeepsie's population at the time of the 1960 census was slightly less than 38,000. Kingston's at that time was about 28,000. Mayor Garraghan was also questioned on what the prospective year and administrators an $8-

Transfer 20 Inmates From 'Despair House'

Crowded conditions prompted the transfer of 20 Ulster County prisoners to the Orange County Jail last Saturday, it was learned today.

The expense of such a move has not been disclosed. Deputy Sheriff Jerry Schwartz told The Freeman this morning that the prisoners were "... moved sometime Saturday because conditions here have become too crowded."

Orange County's jail is located in Newburgh. The jail was recently termed "a house of despair" by Brooklyn Assemblyman Bertram L. Podell, chairman of the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Penal Institutions.

Podell toured the jail July 16 to check conditions. During his tour, the committee chairman noted the jail had originally been built to hold a man overnight. Facilities provide cells for 42 males and 14 females. There were 74 inmates housed in the jail at the time of Podell's visit.

The backlog of prisoners results from inmates having to wait for grand jury action, trials and bail.

Sunday Phone Strike Is Possible, CWA Local 1120 Meeting Tonight

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Upwards of 600 members of Local 1120 of the Communication Workers of America have been notified to attend a mass meeting scheduled at 8 p. m. today at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, to hear reports pertinent to a possible strike.

Update locals of the CWA say they will strike the New York Telephone Co. at 6 p. m. Sunday unless the company guarantees the safety of employees in high-crime areas. The Associated Press reported.

Andrew E. Helgesen, vice president of Local 1120 AFL-CIO which has membership in Newburgh, Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Catskill, Hudson and the Monticello area, said Local 1120 will support locals 1101, 1102 and 1106 if the strike is called.

Officials of 23 locals, which represent about 23,000 telephone installers and repairmen, set the deadline after a meeting in Albany Thursday. Daniel Keenan, chairman of the coordinating committee of the local presidents, predicted that, if Upstate CWA members strike, they would be joined "in sympathy" by 8,000 long-line servicemen and telephone operators employed by the company and 15,000 of the Western Electric.

Helgesen said he called tonight's meeting to give the membership information relating to the situation in New York City, what transpired at the Albany meeting of the 23 local presidents, and to decide what action is deemed necessary.

The key demand of the union is to get a guarantee from the telephone company that would definitely provide safety for members who are assigned to jobs in high-crime areas. He said he had heard that since the walkout in New York City management personnel have been working in teams of two in the crime areas.

Helgesen also noted that the union wants the company to comply with the 1962 agreement which would assign an escort to individual members when they go on a job in crime areas, so that one worker could aid another in case of a crime attempt, or summon police.

The vice-president of Local 1120 denied reports by the company that the present situation might lead to a strike Sunday was a "power play" by the union to seek more people on the job. "Our sole concern is safety for membership," Helgesen said.

The action taken at the Albany meeting and the decision to strike the telephone company at 6 p. m. Aug. 6 unless the company guarantees the safety requested for employees, came five days after 16,000 CWA workers in New York City walked off their jobs over the same issue.

The strike was set off Monday by about 50 members of Local 1101 at the Stewart Avenue Garage in Brooklyn. A member of the local, a pay-phone coin collector, was wounded last Thursday while duty. The walkout spread to other locals in the city.

The Upstate leaders said they supported "fellow members in New York City who were forced to take job action as a result of the telephone company's total disregard for employee health and safety."

The company has said that even if the strike spreads throughout the state, general telephone service would not be affected.

$7,700 Involved

He said $7,700 was involved. An OEO spokesman said $5,000 in federal money had been earmarked for a liberation school to "introduce neighborhood children to areas of Negro history neglected by the present educational system."

Sorace said that was the ostensible purpose of the liberation school.

"According to our informants," he said, "this is being done along with the teaching of just pure, unadulterated hatred for the white race."

Within hours, George McCarthy, assistant director of the OEO for congressional relations, telephoned the Judiciary Committee with a memorandum denying Brooks was even on the payroll.

An OEO spokesman said later the agency had granted $300,000 to the Nashville antipoverty commission which in turn had contracted with St. Anselm's for the school, which already was in operation.

Trooper Boss Dies After Major Surgery

ARTHUR CORNELIUS JR.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius Jr. died today in Albany Medical Center Hospital where he had undergone major chest surgery earlier in the week.

The 59-year-old professional lawman was appointed superintendent of the State Police by Gov. Rockefeller in 1961, two years after he had retired from nearly a quarter of a century's service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The sixth superintendent in the State Police's 50-year history, Cornelius was the first top officer who had not previously served as a trooper.

Rockefeller chose the former FBI man to reorganize the State Police and during his 6½-year tenure Cornelius shaped an organization that virtually doubled in size.

He also supervised the reduction of the troopers' work week from 60 hours to 40 hours and established a centralized control in division headquarters.

Cornelius, whose 59th birthday was Wednesday, had been operated on Tuesday. He worked last Friday and sent a message to all troops telling them he would be back in the office in late August.

Cornelius was born in Bayville, N.J. and attended Toms River High School, John Marshall College and Mercer Beasley School of Law, now the Rutgers University School of Law, where he received a law degree.

He joined the FBI in 1935 and

after service as an agent in various cities, including New York City and Washington, he served as special agent in charge of the bureau's offices in Grand Sorace leveled his charge against the OEO in midday testimony. He first said poverty funds were going to SNCC, later amended that to say the money was going to Brooks, not to the organization itself.

Trooper Boss Dies After Major Surgery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police Superintendent Arthur Cornelius Jr. died today in Albany Medical Center Hospital where he had undergone major chest surgery earlier in the week.

The 59-year-old professional lawman was appointed superintendent of the State Police by Gov. Rockefeller in 1961, two years after he had retired from nearly a quarter of a century's service with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The sixth superintendent in the State Police's 50-year history, Cornelius was the first top officer who had not previously served as a trooper.

Rockefeller chose the former FBI man to reorganize the State Police and during his 6½-year

tenure Cornelius shaped an organization that virtually doubled in size.

He also supervised the reduction of the troopers' work week from 60 hours to 40 hours and established a centralized control in division headquarters.

Cornelius, whose 59th birthday was Wednesday, had been operated on Tuesday. He worked last Friday and sent a message to all troops telling them he would be back in the office in late August.

Cornelius was born in Bayville, N.J., and attended Toms River High School, John Marshall College and Mercer Beasley School of Law, now the Rutgers University School of Law, where he received a law degree.

He joined the FBI in 1935 and

after service as an agent in various cities, including New York City and Washington, he served as special agent in charge of the bureau's offices in Grand

Tape for Seeding

Paper tape may have an important new use, helping the farmer to plant seeds with precision.

The possibility of using tapes as a valuable tool in mechanical planting has been tried out successfully by a Cornell University agricultural engineer.

Prof. Wesley W. Gunkel, State College of Agriculture, Cornell, worked out a method to hold vegetable seeds in a tape.

Like a machinegun ammunition belt, a role of tape containing seeds is fed into a seeding device so that the seed can be planted into soil at a desired spacing.

In cooperation with George R. Hubbard, senior engineer of Eastman Kodak Co., Gunkel has designed and developed two devices: one for taping the seeds and another that "picks up" each seed from the tape and plants it.

House Plan Has Country Touch

By JACK McEENEY
The old tradition of spaciousness and homelike atmosphere have been built into Associated Architects' house plan, "The Gaynor". You won't see the dark rooms that one associates with the big houses of a generation or two ago, nor the complicated business of hallways and niches. You will find in the "Gaynor" the same feeling of being at home the moment you enter.

We have here a full complement of three bedrooms. This means the children need not be crammed into one room. The master bedroom is 10 by 14½ feet and has two closets, both with space-saving sliding doors. Let's hie ourselves into the kitchen, perhaps to raid the icebox. You'll find it in line with a pair of strictly utilitarian objects, a washer and dryer. As you can readily see, this kitchen has everything, including a snack bar and a window over the sink. A lavatory next to the kitchen supplements the full-scale bathroom on the other side of the house.

Now you can obtain plans for "The Gaynor" at moderate cost by filling in the accompanying coupon. Note if you want blueprints with basement (32,000 cubic feet) or without (26,500 cubic feet). The plans will show how to build of wood siding, brick veneer or concrete block.

Demolition Spokesman Defends Action on 4th

Morris Sims, manager for the William N. Young, Inc., produced a paper purportedly signed by John J. Cecelia of 319 Fourth Avenue on whose property the demolition material was dumped, giving permission to deposit the fill with "no covering required." Cecelia and other residents of the area said they understood that after the swampy part of his property was filled it would be properly covered after it was leveled. Residents claimed that Sims told them that he would mow up the debris "like cabbage" and prepare it for the fill that was to follow.

This was denied by Sims who noted the signed agreement didn't call for any covering of the debris on Cecelia's property. Sims contended that never in the 30 years his company has been in business have they dumped trash anywhere other than in swamps and gul-

The company manager noted that it cost the company $1,100 a day, including men, trucks and equipment, to cart the material to the Fourth Avenue property.

Another agreement, which Sims said was signed by Arthur H. Buck, Route 213, Eddyville, gave permission to the demolition company to dump material on his property. That agreement also noted that "no dirt covering was required." Buck had no complaint.

The existing condition of the rubble on Cecelia's property, aroused the anger of residents of Fourth Avenue, who complained that the condition of Cecelia's property in its present condition is perfect "for nesting" by copperheads, rats, cockroaches and inch-long ants.

Concern Noted On N. Y. Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A serious lag in state tax collections could throw Gov. Rockefeller's current budget about $300 million out of balance, figures supplied by Comptroller Arthur Levitt indicated today.

Levitt reported Thursday that tax receipts for the first four months of the present fiscal year were running only $9 million — or 1 per cent — ahead of last year's pace.

Banked on Gain
At the same time, he pointed out that Rockefeller has been banking on a $321-million increase — an 8 per cent gain — to help balance his $4,686,000,000 budget.

Levitt, a Democrat, did not offer any interpretive comment in reporting the developing deficiency. But an aide said the situation should be regarded as serious.

If the lag continued, the aide said, the Republican governor would wind up with only $27 million in added revenues and, therefore, a budget — balancing deficit of nearly $300 million.

Invited to comment on the Levitt report, Rockefeller's budget director, T. Norman Hurd, said he would want to analyze the figures at length before drawing any conclusions.

"It's dangerous to make comparisons from year to year without knowing of variations in the pattern of collections of individual taxes," Hurd said.

He added that his Budget Division is preparing its annual revision of spending and revenue estimates and expects to issue its official report later this month.

In submitting his budget last February, Rockefeller said he expected continued growth in the economy would increase the total tax yield by 8 per cent. Levitt observed that this included a 13 per cent gain in income tax receipts.

But, the comptroller said, during the April-July period tax collections climbed only 1 per cent to $1,272,000,000. Income tax receipts, totaling $610 million, were up only 6 per cent, he noted.

State Studies Air Pollution Control Method

Air pollution control regulations covering tractor-trailers and other vehicles of more than 6,000 pounds gross weight are being studied by the State Air Pollution Control Board, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner and board chairman, announced today.

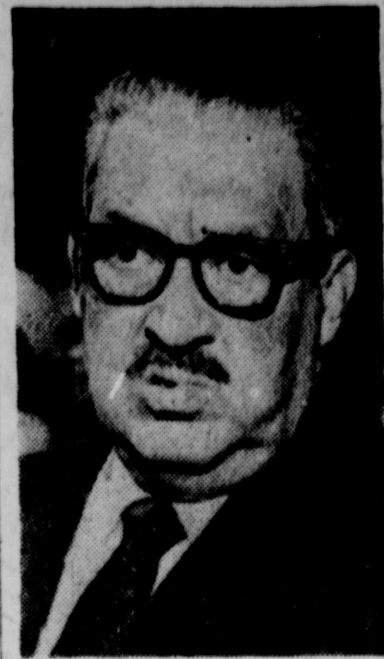

The regulations, when put into effect, will supplement recently announced provisions for automobiles and other vehicles weighing less than 6,000 pounds.

Two new regulations for large vehicles are under review. One, expected to take effect soon, is designed to reduce the amount of smoke discharged by such trucks. The second, to be adopted later, would limit the idling period of such vehicles, Dr. Ingraham said.

In addition, the Health Department's Division of Air Resources is working on regulations to control air contamination from the evaporation of gasoline from fuel storage tanks and automobile gas tanks and carburetors, the commissioner added.

Resnick Dismayed By Bensley View

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick said today that the people of New York State are still trying to decide whether William Bensley is an insurance man posing as the head of the Farm Bureau or a farmer posing as the head of an insurance company. Congressman Resnick said that he was dismayed to see a statement yesterday in which Mr. Bensley, President of the New York Farm Bureau, termed as erroneous reports that the House Subcommittee on Rural Development will continue hearings in Chicago and Omaha.

If Mr. Bensley could read newspaper as carefully as he apparently knows how to read, he has nothing to hide, why an insurance policy, he would know that these hearings were clearly labeled ad hoc hearings and that I alone am sponsoring them," Resnick said.

"In announcing the hearing there was never any mention of the subcommittee or the full Agriculture Committee."

"Speaking of deception, what is more deceiving than Mr. Bensley and all of his frequent news releases referring to himself only as president of the New York State Farm Bureau? He never mentions the fact that he is also president of Farm Bureau Family Insurance companies worth well over $30 million, a director of the American Agricultural Mutual Insurance Company, for which he is being paid. The company is owned wholly by the American Farm Bureau Federation. He is also a director of the Farm Bureau Mutual Fund.

"I would also like to point out that I have written to Mr. Bensley asking for an occupational breakdown of the New York State membership, which he has refused to provide. If he has nothing to hide, why doesn't he produce this information to prove that I am not telling the truth when I say that the Farm Bureau members are not farmers and do not have a major agricultural interest. I think the answer is that if Mr. Bensley releases this and other information that I have asked for, he would prove that my charges are correct."

Higher Draft Calls, Defense Hike Loom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher draft calls and a possible $2-billion supplemental defense budget request are likely as a result of President Johnson's ordered troop increase for Vietnam, Pentagon sources say.

The President announced Thursday that 45,000 more men will be deployed to the war zone in response to recommendations of top defense and military officials.

At the same time, he said, there is a possibility that because of increased military spending, defense expenditures for fiscal 1968 may exceed the $73 billion budget by up to $4 billion.

Under Pentagon Study
Exactly how high draft calls will go now is being determined in a Pentagon study of what the newly authorized 525,000-man level for Vietnam next summer will do to over-all U.S. military strength.

Announced draft calls for the five months extending through September have risen to an average of about 23,000 a month. This reflects, in part, the Pentagon's move to meet its 1966-approved Vietnam manpower ceiling of 480,000.

Sources said draft calls during the last quarter of this year likely will exceed 35,000 a month.

As for spending, sources say Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes $2 billion in planned spending can be trimmed from the defense budget to offset partially the possible $4-billion overrun mentioned by the President.

The $2-billion difference would have to be covered by a supplemental budget request early next year, sources said.

The administration also had to get a $12-billion defense supplement for fiscal 1967, but the 1968 budget was supposed to cover all anticipated war spending as well as meet other military needs.

Searching Review
The President said McNamara had been ordered to "conduct a searching review of all defense expenditures and to withhold all such expenditures that are not now essential for national security."

Defense officials already are in the process of cutting back on fighter aircraft purchases. They say this is possible because of a lower-than-expected rate of losses over North Vietnam.

The level of U.S. forces in Vietnam now stands officially at 454,000 after a 7,000-man "statistical adjustment" by the Pentagon Thursday.

The Pentagon said most of the 45,000 new troops will be Army. Sources said there will also be a certain number of Air Force and Navy units, mainly combat support elements.

No Reserve callup is expected, the Pentagon said.

Demolition Spokesman Defends Action on 4th

A spokesman for the demolition company responsible for rubble-filled backyard in the Fourth Avenue area, yesterday defended his company's action.

Morris Sims, manager for the William N. Young, Inc., produced a paper purportedly signed by John J. Cecelia of 319 Fourth Avenue on whose property the demolition material was dumped, giving permission to deposit the fill with "no covering required."

Cecelia and other residents of the area said they understood that after the swampy part of his property was filled it would be properly covered after it was leveled. Residents claimed that Sims told them that he would mash up the debris "like cabbage" and prepare it for the fill that was to follow.

This was denied by Sims who noted the signed agreement didn't call for any covering of the debris on Cecelia's property. Sims contended that never in the 30 years his company has been in business have they dumped trash anywhere other than in swamps and gulches.

Kin of State Official Held On Riot Charge

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The son of an assistant state attorney general was indicted Thursday in connection with the Negro disturbances here July 27.

The indictment against James Pryor, 23, charges him with inciting to riot, a felony punishable upon conviction by a maximum sentence of two years imprisonment or a $500 fine, or both.

The indictment also named Samuel McDowell, 28, who, with Pryor, is a member of an Albany Negro group known as The Brothers. The group said the two men were trying to stop the disturbance, not start it.

Pryor is the son of Peter N. Pryor of Delmar, an assistant state attorney general in the Claims and Litigation Bureau. He was released in $1,500 bail after his arraignment Thursday on the charge.

Three other men were indicted by the grand jury Thursday on counts of third-degree burglary and petty larceny in the disturbance. They were charged with looting a grocery store.

These Melons Come High

A third episode involving the thefts of watermelons from fruit stands in the Highland area, early today resulted in the arrests of two men on charges of petty larceny.

Trooper C. J. Bebensee said Troopers Robert Whalen and T. W. Wintersteen were on night patrol when they observed two men taking watermelons from Wright's fruit stand on Route 299. The troopers arrested William Carl Ennist, 21, of Bloomington, and Gerald Robert Muller, 20, of Rosendale.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lewis DiStasi, Town of Lloyd, the accused men pleaded guilty and each paid a fine of $10, troopers said.

State Studies Air Pollution Control Method

Air pollution control regulations covering tractor-trailers and other vehicles of more than 6,000 pounds gross weight are being studied by the State Air Pollution Control Board, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner and board chairman, announced today. The regulations, when put into effect, will supplement recently announced provisions for automobiles and other vehicles weighing less than 6,000 pounds.

Two new regulations for large vehicles are under review. One, expected to take effect soon, is designed to reduce the amount of smoke discharged by such trucks. The second, to be adopted later, would limit the idling period of such vehicles, Dr. Ingraham said.

In addition, the Health Department's Division of Air Resources is working on regulations to control air contamination from the evaporation of gasoline from fuel storage tanks and automobile gas tanks and carburetors, the commissioner added.

DWI Charged

A Dutchess County man was arrested at 2:20 a. m. today by Highland State Police and accused of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, at the traffic circle, on Route 9W, Town of Lloyd, James Schofield, 24, of Stormville, was booked by Troopers John Crodelle and Edward Pulver, and at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Lewis DiStasi the accused man was held in $125 bail pending hearing Saturday, Aug. 26 at 10:30 a. m.

Resnick Dismayed By Bensley View

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick said today that the people of New York State are still trying to decide whether William Bensley is an insurance man posing as the head of the Farm Bureau or a farmer posing as the head of an insurance company. Congressman Resnick said that he was dismayed to see a statement yesterday in which Mr. Bensley, President of the New York Farm Bureau, termed as erroneous reports that the House Subcommittee on Rural Development will continue hearings in Chicago and Omaha.

"If Mr. Bensley could read newspaper as carefully as he apparently knows how to read an insurance policy, he would know that these hearings were clearly labeled ad hoc hearings and that I alone am sponsoring them," Resnick said.

"In announcing the hearing there was never any mention of the subcommittee or the full Agriculture Committee."

Higher Draft Calls, Defense Hike Loom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher draft calls and a possible $2-billion supplemental defense budget request are likely as a result of President Johnson's ordered troop increase for Vietnam, Pentagon sources say.

The President announced Thursday that 45,000 to 50,000 more men will be deployed to the war zone in response to recommendations of top defense and military officials.

At the same time, he said, there is a possibility that because of increased military spending, defense expenditures for fiscal 1968 may exceed the $73 billion budget by up to $4 billion.

Under Pentagon Study

Exactly how high draft calls will go now is being determined in a Pentagon study of what the newly authorized 525,000-man level for Vietnam next summer will do to over-all U.S. military strength.

Announced draft calls for the five months extending through September have risen to an average of about 23,000 a month. This reflects, in part, the Pentagon's move to meet its 1966-approved Vietnam manpower ceiling of 480,000.

Sources said draft calls during the last quarter of this year likely will exceed 35,000 a month.

As for spending, sources say Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes $2 billion in planned spending can be trimmed from the defense budget to offset partially the possible $4-billion overrun mentioned by the President.

The $2-billion difference would have to be covered by a supplemental budget request early next year, sources said.

The administration also had to get a $12-billion defense supplement for fiscal 1967, but the 1968 budget was supposed to cover all anticipated war spending as well as meet other military needs.

Searching Review

The President said McNamara had been ordered to "conduct a searching review of all defense expenditures and to withhold all such expenditures that are not now essential for national security."

Defense officials already are in the process of cutting back on fighter aircraft purchases. They say this is possible because of a lower-than-expected rate of losses over North Vietnam.

The level of U.S. forces in Vietnam now stands officially at 454,000 after a 7,000-man "statistical adjustment" by the Pentagon Thursday.

The Pentagon said most of the 45,000 new troops will be Army. Sources said there will also be a certain number of Air Force and Navy units, mainly combat support elements.

No Reserve callup is expected, the Pentagon said.

Urge Expansion Of NY Lottery Ticket Outlets

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Local governmental agencies in the state have been urged to apply for licenses to sell lottery tickets.

State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy announced the move as an effort to bolster lagging sales.

"It is important that every community in the state support this revenue program and that every ticket outlet available under the law be utilized," Murphy said.

Telegrams were sent to the chief executives of all cities, towns, counties and villages not already licensed as ticket outlets. Only 25 out of an eligible 1,600 eligible local governmental agencies have applied for permission to sell tickets.

Murphy said that, of every dollar ticket sold, 36 and 23 cents is returned to the localities for educational purposes. In addition, licensed agents are allowed to retain a 5-cent commission for each ticket they sell.

Specter Over America

As the radical Communist revolutionaries met in Havana to push the traditional Communist parties in this hemisphere into a more radical continental strategy for expanding their influence, Premier Fidel Castro cited as apt a phrase of Marx in the Communist Manifesto: "A specter is stalking the continent."

Castro went on to add, "There is no doubt that the solidarity of the Organization of Latin-American Solidarity alarms the imperialists. The specter of OLAS is causing insomnia among the reactionaries, imperialists, henchmen, gorillas and exporters."

Normally, we in this country would have looked with amusement at this gathering of the rag tag mob of revolutionaries, saboteurs and assassins. Their plans to wage guerrilla war to unseat established governments would have seemed far fetched despite Castro's success in Cuba. But when Castro cries out, "The first duty of all revolutionaries is to make revolution, from Macado to the Andes," we have to listen. For beside him as he spoke was Stokely Carmichael, the American Negro preacher of violence, who has committed himself to revolution.

There are those in Congress who want Carmichael held the moment he returns from Havana. His arrest and that of Rap Brown, his successor as president of the misnamed Students Nonviolence League, and their kind, may be the first step in the war to put down a revolution before it starts in this country. Our only fear is that they will hide behind the freedoms assured them under the Constitution they are fighting to destroy.

China's Civil War

For months, reports from Red China watchers have told of the fierce struggle being waged between pro- and anti-Mao factions in that country.

Dispatch has followed dispatch, each one trumpeting that the conflict has reached a "decisive" phase.

China is in a state of virtual civil war, we are told; new warlords have arisen; whole regions have revolted; there are riots and strikes in the cities and clashes between the uncontrollable Red Guards and workers; Mao is about to lose; Mao is about to win.

Meanwhile, in Peking, Mao Tse-tung maintains at least the image of being the leader of a monolithic state. To the outside world, China still speaks officially with one voice.

Somehow, amid all the turmoil, China continues to leap ahead in the development of nuclear power, recently exploding its first hydrogen bomb—a sophisticated device that left Western experts chewing their predictions.

If events in China have reached a "decisive" stage, that decision is taking a long time coming. It is to be hoped things remain in a "decisive" stage indefinitely.

So long as China is in internal disarray, so long as Mao and anti-Mao factions balance each other off, so long as those who advocate pure, primitive revolutionary communism are frustrated by what might be called the "evolutionary Communists," then so long will China be unable to make serious mischief outside her own borders.

For neither a pugnacious, adventurous China nor one ruled by more pragmatic men who would possibly seek to heal the rupture with the Soviet Union promises anything good for the rest of the world.

As Confucius might have said: When wolves fight among themselves, the other animals in the forest enjoy serenity.

Yankee Ingenuity

This item may hearten those who fear that old-fashioned Yankee ingenuity is a thing of the past and that a new generation of listless, long-haired, pot-smoking navel contemplators is about to inherit the country.

Boys in a certain college dormitory came into possession of an old soft drink machine that was discarded when a new one was installed. They decided to put it to use as a beer dispenser.

They got it to working again, but then were faced with a crucial problem—how to collect 30 cents per unit of the more expensive brew from a machine designed to disgorge a bottle for each dime put into it?

The students came up with a simple solution: They loaded the machine with two empty bottles ahead of each full one.

Subversives Take Part In National Riot Scene

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Governor Otto Kerner, of Illinois, chairman of the President's newly-appointed commission on civil disorders, in his fragmentary report about the testimony given by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, has raised a question as to what actually has been done to date to ascertain whether the riots throughout the country have been organized according to a prearranged plan. The governor made this comment:

"Mr. Hoover said he had no intelligence on which to base a conclusion of conspiracy. I make no conclusions, and I want to make that clear."

Outside Country

The use of the word "intelligence" is unusual, and has led to some speculation that perhaps the FBI chief was referring to information gathered outside this country, which is the function of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Just after the announcement from Washington by Governor Kerner, news dispatches told of a press conference in Havana at which Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in this country, was quoted as saying:

"We are organizing urban guerrillas in the United States according to the tactics inspired by (Che) Guevara of creating two or three more Vietnams to bring the collapse of capitalism and imperialism."

The mere presence of Stokely Carmichael in Cuba as an "honorary delegate" at the Latin-American Solidarity Conference, which is sponsored by the Communists, has given emphasis to what has often been charged — that there have been subversive elements in the civil-rights movement. In a speech on Wednesday to the conference in Havana, Carmichael declared:

"As we develop our revolutionary conscience, we must begin to develop urban guerrilla warfare. We are ready to meet the savagery of the white United States with arms."

Subversives Involved

Representative Edwin E. Willis, Democrat of Louisiana, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said on Wednesday that investigations by the committee staff "clearly indicated that certain subversive elements have been involved in some of these riots and in the creation of racial unrest generally."

The latest expression on the subject has come from David Ginsburg, executive director of the presidential commission, who said that there has been a continuing investigation of the riots. He added:

"That there were some outside agitators is a fact."

When asked if these "agitators" could be called subversive, Mr. Ginsburg responded that there were "characterizations" of this nature, but that these had not been emphasized by the FBI director.

Mr. Hoover, in an appearance before a House committee last February, said that "Communists and other subversives and extremists... were active in exploiting and aggravating the riots in Harlem, Watts, Cleveland, and Chicago."

Continuing Investigation

The FBI carries on, of course, a continuing investigation of internal subversion by the Communist party, but recently there have been conflicting reports as to the exact nature of the FBI's authority to investigate riots. A New York Times dispatch from Washington last week quoted a Justice Department spokesman as follows:

"The FBI carries on, of course, a continuing investigation of internal subversion by the Communist party, but recently there have been conflicting reports as to the exact nature of the FBI's authority to investigate riots. A New York Times dispatch from Washington last week quoted a Justice Department spokesman as follows:

"There is no federal law specifying riots that would authorize the FBI to investigate such. However there are ample laws to give power to investigate such as interstate conspiracy to violate state laws and interstate commerce violations."

It looks as if only congressional committees by their penetrating investigations will be able to reveal to the American people just what was the nature of the outside influences brought to bear in producing damaging riots such as occurred in Newark and Detroit.

The tape recorder spun silently. The young man on the opposite side of the desk imposed one condition: I was not to use his name. He was short for 19, the hair was trimmed neatly, the gray suit and white tie appeared to be old-fashioned. The sullenness in his eyes was masked by the polite words from his lips.

Q. You know why I invited you to my home? A. You said you want to understand something about the younger generation. Q. You're laughing? A. No sir. It's funny. I'm just one out of millions. Q. Do you understand your own generation? A. I understand me. Nobody else.

Q. Do you love your parents? Some. It's mixed with pity. Q. Why. Well—you sure you're not going to use my name?—I ask myself what are they? Nothing. He pushes a hack for maybe a hundred a week; she baby sits for a buck an hour. You think that's living?

Q. Is it their fault? A. Who else? Life is up for grabs. They never learned how to grab. They're not stupid; just ignorant. I know more about life than they do, and all they hollar about is more respect around the house. Q. You don't give it to them? A. Sure. Whenever I think of it. I don't put them down on purpose.

Q. Brothers and sisters? A. Two younger brothers; my sister Miriam is two years older. Q. You like them? A. They're all right. Q. Not exactly love? A. Depends on what the word means. They go their way; I go mine. The little fellows get good grades, but they're innocent. Miriam, she don't know how to play the game.

Q. What game? A. Lets the guys make out. Mamma didn't tell her nothing except don't let the boys touch you until you're married. Q. What's wrong with that? A. Mister, you're funny. Q. Do you make out? A. Sometimes. Q. Ever get a girl pregnant? A. No. Q. Ever take dope? A. Never. Never sniffed glue either or smoked a weed. I would if I felt like it.

Q. You don't admire us, do you? A. Who is us? Q. The older generation? A. You going to print this? Q. Maybe. A. No. The way I see it, everything stands still. You people try to make everything stand still. Q. I don't understand. A. Yes you do. Everybody wants to keep what he's got, and get a little more. Everybody wants peace and a house and money in the bank. Q. How about a better world for our children?

A. That's the wildest. Somebody goofed somewhere. You had a big war in Europe, and Brown, charged with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., but free on bond while he awaits an extradition hearing on the charge, made a speech in Cambridge immediately before the riot July 24.

Wednesday the Cambridge chief of police, Brice Kinnamon, told the Senate Judiciary Committee Brown's speech was not only inflammatory but was "the sole reason for our riot."

Kinnamon produced a recorded speech which, the police chief said, Brown made to the Cambridge Negroes. In part it said:

"I mean don't be trying to love the hunky white man to death; shoot him to death, 'cause that's what he's out to do to you. Do to him what he would do to you, but do it to him first."

Brown reportedly said the town should be burned down but advised his listeners to do the burning in the white sections of Cambridge.

Drew Pearson Says

Riot Remedies

WASHINGTON — Here are some of the causes and cures for our race riots, as expressed by men on the firing line:

NAACP's Roy Wilkins, member of the President's new race panel, a moderate Negro who has been battling for racial understanding probably longer than any man in the USA. Asked at the International Platform Association Forum why Negroes moving north became so much more violent than Southern Negroes, he replied:

"The family controls Negro behavior in the South. In the North the Negro finds himself in new surroundings, usually without his family, without his old neighbors, without his church. In Harlem he's just John Smith."

All of the juvenile delinquency experts, incidentally, support Wilkins in this.

Says Capt. Daniel V. James, retiring commander of the U. S. Naval Communications Center in Washington: "We have been helping broken homes of the Washington community through Big Brothers."

"Scores of our men get satisfaction out of being a big brother to a fatherless boy. We try to advise and guide him, keep him out of trouble. The lack of a father in broken homes is the biggest factor which gets boys off to a bad start."

Says President Lyndon Johnson: "I don't know why some people sit idly by and are willing to take the more expensive route, the jail route, the penitentiary route . . . It takes more of our money to take care of a convict in a penitentiary than it does to prepare a boy to be a good tax-paying citizen who can read and write."

How About Spending at Home?

Says Dr. Martin Luther King: "If we can spend billions of dollars rebuilding Germany and revitalizing the people of Europe, with more billions of arms for Southeast Asia, we can afford to spend a few billions putting our Negro people back on their feet. . . . The church has been a tailight rather than a headlight. . . . Congress has revealed that it loves rats more than it does people."

Says Mayor Ivan Allen, Jr., of Atlanta, who has maintained the best race relations of any city in the South: "We need a massive housing program costing twenty to thirty millions a year, with the workers for that program enlisted from the unemployed of our Negro ghettos."

Says Dr. Alec Levin,

Washington physician: "Enlist a corps of young Negro policemen, not trained in the use of firearms but trained in leadership. Put them in every city block."

Says comedian Dick Gregory: "Why didn't we investigate the Minutemen or the white kids rioting at Fort Lauderdale? . . . All the militant were in Newark, and Stokely Carmichael was in Cuba when the Detroit riots started. It's one time riots can't be blamed on him. . . . Negroes call Edward Brooke (Negro Senator from Massachusetts) the white knight. He's stronger than dirt. . . . When you see these old schools, you can understand why the kids want to burn them down to get new ones. . . ."

Preventive Medicine

Says Sargent Shriver, head of the antipoverty program: "The only permanent answer to preventing riots is to attack the causes which produce riots. We are trying to provide alternatives to violence."

Says Rep. James Burke, D-Mass.: "Let's fill up those empty seats in ball parks with underprivileged kids at least once a week. If we nurture a healthy interest in sports, it will naturally attract the young to playgrounds and keep them off the streets. . . . Ten million dollars for two years would provide for about 80 million tickets, an opportunity for 20 million youngsters to see four or five professional games. Why shouldn't more kids today be emulating Joe Foy of the Red Sox instead of watching crime pictures on television?"

Says Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y.: "We need a new division in the Justice Department to study better community relations between the police and the people; tranquilizing pellets which can be used rather than bullets to calm violent mobs. The FBI teaches target practice, not community relations."

Note — J. Edgar Hoover is opposed to such a division, but a study just prepared by the Justice Department supports it.

Washington Merry-Go-Round
Fred Kappel, retired head of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been spending his time since he retired working for the public. LBJ has appointed him to the President's Committee on Postal Organization, the Commission to Study Executive Salaries, and on the Emergency Board to Mediate the Railroad dispute. . . .

Attorney General Ramsey Clark has gone one step further than his father in dealing with the Ku Klux Klan. Tom Clark, when Attorney General under Truman, was the first to put the Ku Klux Klan on the subversive list, along with the Communist party. His son Ramsey has now arrested 12 suspects, most of them Klansmen, in connection with the bombing of school board members' homes and other acts of violence to prevent desegregation.

CDR. W. C. Humphrey, SC, USN (ret.) of Arlington, Va., who visits Kingston, and drops in to say Hello to me receives my column from a Kingstonian, who cuts them out and saves them for him. His card comes from Disneyland. His choice of a colorful card for me is a horse-drawn street car. There is a track, and a nice black horse, a conductor in vest, shirt sleeves, holding the reins. The car is of all bright colors and a wide running board, and full of passengers, and a lady sitting in front with a child next to the conductor. That used to be my favorite spot, when I was a youngster, on our electric trolley cars going to Kingston Point Park. We had a museum made here, all we had to do is preserve it, and bring the Mary Powell, Norwich, Skillyput, and the Clement would have welcomed them at the lagoon at the Park.

I received two colorful historical post cards from my readers. I appreciate when they travel that if they go to American Museums they send me cards from there. I wish they had that type of museums in Kingston. Mrs. E. M. Hendry of Kingston, writes "spending my vacation near Hinsdale, Ill., visited this old mill today, and an old windmill yesterday." The pictures look like the inside of an old country store and post office with bars. There is a red coffee grinder, and a small coal stove and much tinware, and reward posters. They explain the Grause Mill and Museum, of Hinsdale, Ill., as a country store and post office. One of several on exhibit in the only operating waterwheel gristmill in Illinois, fully restored from original mill built in the 1850's. Open mid-May to late October.

A. You want us to go to school, but we shouldn't have opinions. Especially about our parents. My history teacher says that there were always wars. Okay. There was always sickness too, but we're trying to cure it. Q. My generation is,

A. You twist things. Your group takes dead aim on the next buck, the next steak, the next bread, and all you tell us is to go to church. I never saw my father go to somebody's house that they don't start with drinks. Got to have drinks. But if we have a bash, and somebody smokes a weed, call the fuzz because the kids are having an orgy.

Q. You're a pretty sharp twister yourself. A. I told you this would come to nothing. Q. It's going pretty good. You can't respect us unless we're perfect. Or at least, less imperfect than you. A. Who needs parents dumber than the children? Did you respect your father? Q. Sure did. My mother too. A. They must have been good people. Q. It's a long way back, but they were good. They also had quick hands for fresh kids.

A. There's a lot of that stuff, but it doesn't work. Just makes the kids shut up. It never changes anything. Q. How can we get to you? I mean, really. A. Stop pretending to be what you ain't. Level with the kids. They're smarter today. Q. You don't mean the word level. You mean confess we're wrong and you're right.

Profiles of Three Negroes

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three men symbolize the struggle for the mind and the progress of the American Negro. All three are Negroes: Clarence Mitchell, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Mitchell has worked almost his whole adult life for justice and peaceful solution through law and order for Negroes. Carmichael and Brown are apostles of violence.

Recent Statements

Three recent statements by these men illuminate not only the different roads they have chosen to follow — and the kind of appeal they make to the Negro mind — but the choice Negroes have open to them.

"The haters, both white and nonwhite," Mitchell said Wednesday night in a talk in Atlanta, "are now operating on the same wave-length. They both want to re-segregate the country."

"They are a small minority, but they are a dangerous minority. They are dangerous because some of them are reckless enough to carry out wild schemes of destruction."

The Associated Press reported that in a three-hour news conference, from which U. S. reporters were barred, Carmichael said in Cuba been working for the advancement of Negroes for 30 years, which is longer than Brown, 23, and Carmichael, 26, have been alive.

He worked with government, state and Negro agencies — all involved in Negro problems — and 22 years ago he went with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He has been the NAACP's Washington representative since then. His is hardly a private life. He lives in Baltimore where he has a wife, Juanita, an NAACP lawyer there, and four sons, comes to Washington every day and works until 8 o'clock at night or later with senators and representatives on bills affecting Negroes, goes to committee hearings to testify or listen, or to see Justice Department lawyers, or to the White House, or to various meetings, and then on week-ends has to fly around the country to attend meetings.

Controlled Temper
This has been his life 22 years, day in and out. He is a husky man with a temper he keeps controlled. He is not doing it for money. The NAACP is not a place to get rich. He has dedicated his life to this job.

It was the NAACP which, after years of preliminary test cases leading up to the big one, got the Supreme Court in 1954 to outlaw segregation as unconstitutional. This cut the barrier to Negro progress.

If it weren't for the work of Mitchell and the NAACP, Negroes in America would probably be as segregated today as they were 100 years ago.

It was this decision which made it possible for Carmichael and Brown to assert themselves although they loo upon the NAACP people as a bunch of outdated Uncle Toms.

Brown, who had a good scholastic record but didn't finish college, is from Louisiana and this year succeeded Carmichael as chairman of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee — a ridiculous name for it now.

He left school to work in civil rights drive in Mississippi. At first pictured as sh he picked up audacity as I went along.

Carmichael, a citizen, though born in the West Indies, finished college. He, to get his early training in civil rights drive in Mississippi. Last year he authored the phrase "Black Power."

But last year he hemmed and hawed about admitting he advocated violence. N any more — and now he is a to command fees of $1,000 more for some of his appearances.

Specter Over America

As the radical Communist revolutionaries met in Havana to push the traditional Communist parties in this hemisphere into a more radical continental strategy for expanding their influence, Premier Fidel Castro cited as apt a phrase of Marx in the Communist Manifesto: "A specter is stalking the continent."

Castro went on to add, "There is no doubt that the solidarity of the Organization of Latin-American Solidarity alarms the imperialists. The specter of OLAS is causing insomnia among the reactionaries, imperialists, henchmen, gorillas and exporters."

Normally, we in this country would have looked with amusement at this gathering of the rag tag mob of revolutionaries, saboteurs and assassins. Their plans to wage guerrilla war to unseat established governments would have seemed far fetched despite Castro's success in Cuba. But when Castro cries out, "The first duty of all revolutionaries is to make revolution, from Macado to the Andes," we have to listen. For beside him as he spoke was Stokely Carmichael, the American Negro preacher of violence, who has committed himself to revolution.

There are those in Congress who want Carmichael held the moment he returns from Havana. His arrest and that of Rap Brown, his successor as president of the misnamed Students Nonviolence League, and their kind, may be the first step in the war to put down a revolution before it starts in this country. Our only fear is that they will hide behind the freedoms assured them under the Constitution they are fighting to destroy.

China's Civil War

For months, reports from Red China watchers have told of the fierce struggle being waged between pro- and anti-Mao factions in that country.

Dispatch has followed dispatch, each one trumpeting that the conflict has reached a "decisive" phase.

China is in a state of virtual civil war, we are told; new warlords have arisen; whole regions have revolted; there are riots and strikes in the cities and clashes between the uncontrollable Red Guards and workers; Mao is about to lose; Mao is about to win.

Meanwhile, in Peking, Mao Tse-tung maintains at least the image of being the leader of a monolithic state. To the outside world, China still speaks officially with one voice.

Somehow, amid all the turmoil, China continues to leap ahead in the development of nuclear power, recently exploding its first hydrogen bomb—a sophisticated device that left Western experts chewing their predictions.

If events in China have reached a "decisive" stage, that decision is taking a long time coming. It is to be hoped things remain in a "decisive" stage indefinitely.

So long as China is in internal disarray, so long as Mao and anti-Mao factions balance each other off, so long as those who advocate pure, primitive revolutionary communism are frustrated by what might be called the "evolutionary Communists," then so long will China be unable to make serious mischief outside her own borders.

For neither a pugnacious, adventurous China nor one ruled by more pragmatic men who would possibly seek to heal the rupture with the Soviet Union promises anything good for the rest of the world.

As Confucius might have said: When wolves fight among themselves, the other animals in the forest enjoy serenity.

Yankee Ingenuity

This item may hearten those who fear that old-fashioned Yankee ingenuity is a thing of the past and that a new generation of listless, long-haired, pot-smoking navel contemplators is about to inherit the country.

Boys in a certain college dormitory came into possession of an old soft drink machine that was discarded when a new one was installed. They decided to put it to use as a beer dispenser.

They got it to working again, but then were faced with a crucial problem—how to collect 30 cents per unit of the more expensive brew from a machine designed to disgorge a bottle for each dime put into it?

The students came up with a simple solution: They loaded the machine with two empty bottles ahead of each full one.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 — Governor Otto Kerner, of Illinois, chairman of the President's newly-appointed commission on civil disorders, in his fragmentary report about the testimony given by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, has raised a question as to what actually has been done to date to ascertain whether the riots throughout the country have been organized according to a prearranged plan. The governor made this comment:

"Mr. Hoover said he had no intelligence on which to base a conclusion of conspiracy. I make no conclusions, and I want to make that clear."

Outside Country

The use of the word "intelligence" is unusual, and has led to some speculation that perhaps the FBI chief was referring to information gathered outside this country, which is the function of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Just after the announcement from Washington by Governor Kerner, news dispatches told of a press conference in Havana at which Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee in this country, was quoted as saying:

"We are organizing urban guerrillas in the United States according to the tactics inspired by (Che) Guevara of creating two or three more Vietnams to bring the collapse of capitalism and imperialism."

The mere presence of Stokely Carmichael in Cuba as an "honorary delegate" at the Latin-American Solidarity Conference, which is sponsored by the Communists, has given emphasis to what has often been charged — that there have been subversive elements in the civil-rights movement. In a speech on Wednesday to the conference in Havana, Carmichael declared:

"As we develop our revolutionary conscience, we must begin to develop urban guerrilla warfare. We are ready to meet the savagery of the white United States with arms."

Subversives Involved

Representative Edwin E. Willis, Democrat of Louisiana, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, said on Wednesday that investigations by the committee staff "clearly indicated that certain subversive elements have been involved in some of these riots and in the creation of racial unrest generally."

The latest expression on the subject has come from David Ginsburg, executive director of the presidential commission, who said that there has been a continuing investigation of the riots. He added: "That there were some outside agitators is a fact."

When asked if these "agitators" could be called subversive, Mr. Ginsburg responded that there were "characterizations" of this nature, but that these had not been emphasized by the FBI director.

Mr. Hoover, in an appearance before a House committee last February, said that

"Communists and other subversives and extremists... were active in exploiting and aggravating the riots in Harlem, Watts, Cleveland, and Chicago."

Continuing Investigation

The FBI carries on, of course, a continuing investigation of internal subversion by the Communist party, but recently there have been conflicting reports as to the exact nature of the FBI's authority to investigate riots. A New York Times dispatch from Washington last week quoted a Justice Department spokesman as follows:

"There is no federal law specifying riots that would authorize the FBI to investigate such. However there are ample laws to give power to investigate such as interstate conspiracy to violate state laws and interstate commerce violations."

It looks as if only congressional committees by their penetrating investigations will be able to reveal to the American people just what was the nature of the outside influences brought to bear in producing damaging riots such as occurred in Newark and Detroit.

The tape recorder spun silently. The young man on the opposite side of the desk imposed one condition: I was not to use his name. He was short for 19, the hair was trimmed neatly, the gray suit and white tie appeared to be old-fashioned. The sullenness in his eyes was masked by the polite words from his lips.

Q. You know why I invited you to my home? A. You said you want to understand something about the younger generation. Q. You're laughing? A. No sir. It's funny. I'm just one out of millions. Q. Do you understand your own generation? A. I understand me. Nobody else.

Q. Do you love your parents? Some. It's mixed with pity. Q. Why. Well—sure you're not going to use my name?—I ask myself what are they? Nothing. He pushes a hack for maybe a hundred a week; she baby sits for a buck an hour. You think that's living?

Q. Is it their fault? A. Who else? Life is up for grabs. They never learned how to grab. They're not stupid; just ignorant. I know more about life than they do, and all they hollar about is more respect around the house. Q. You don't give it to them? A. Sure. Whenever I think of it. I don't put them down on purpose.

Q. Brothers and sisters? A. Two younger brothers; my sister Miriam is two years older. Q. You like them? A. They're all right. Q. Not exactly love? A. Depends on what the word means. They go their way; I go mine. The little fellows get good grades, but they're innocent. Miriam, she don't know how to play the game.

Q. What game? A. Lets the guys make out. Mamma didn't tell her nothing, except don't let the boys touch you until you're married. Q. What's wrong with that? A. Mister, you're funny. Q. Do you make out? A. Sometimes. Q. Ever get a girl pregnant. A. No. Q. Ever take dope? A. Never. Never sniffed glue either or smoked a weed. I would if I felt like it.

Q. You don't admire us, do you? A. Who is us? Q. The older generation? A. You going to print this? Q. Maybe. A. No. The way I see it, everything stards still. You people try to make everything stand still. Q. I don't understand. A. Yes you do. Everybody wants to keep what he's got, and get a little more. Everybody wants peace and a house and money in the bank. Q. How about a better world for our children? A. That's the wildest. Somebody goofed somewhere. You had a big war in Europe, and

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Aug. 4, 1947 — County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp ruled the drowning death of Monroe Truesdell in Esopus creek a suicide.

Aug. 4, 1957 — F. Willard Shields, 38, an IBM employee, was listed in critical condition after a weekend explosion blasted his Sunset Park home off its foundation. Uptown businessmen led by George Svirsky met to formulate plans for a multistory parking garage uptown.

Drew Pearson Says Riot Remedies

WASHINGTON — Here are some of the causes and cures for our race riots, as expressed by men on the firing line:

NAACP's Roy Wilkins, member of the President's new race panel, a moderate Negro who has been battling for racial understanding probably longer than any man in the USA. Asked at the International Platform Association Forum why Negroes moving north became so much more violent than Southern Negroes, he replied:

"The family controls Negro behavior in the South. In the North the Negro finds himself in new surroundings, usually without his family, without his old neighbors, without his church. In Harlem he's just John Smith."

All of the juvenile delinquency experts, incidentally, support Wilkins in this. Says Capt. Daniel V. James, retiring commander of the U. S. Naval Communications Center in Washington: "We have been helping to supply fathers for the broken homes of the Washington community through Big Brothers."

"Scores of our men get satisfaction out of being a big brother to a fatherless boy. We try to advise and guide him, keep him out of trouble. The lack of a father in broken homes is the biggest factor which gets boys off to a bad start."

Says President Lyndon Johnson: "I don't know why some people sit idly by and are willing to take the more expensive route, the jail route, the penitentiary route. It takes more of our money to take care of a convict in a penitentiary than it does to prepare a boy to be a good tax-paying citizen who can read and write."

How About Spending at Home?

Says Dr. Martin Luther King: "If we can spend billions of dollars rebuilding Germany and revitalizing the people of Europe, with more billions of arms for Southeast Asia, we can afford to spend a few billions putting our Negro people back on their feet. . . . The church has been a tailight rather than a headlight. . . . Congress has revealed that it loves rats more than it does people."

Says Mayor Ivan Allen, Jr., of Atlanta, who has maintained the best race relations of any city in the South: "We need a massive housing program costing twenty to thirty millions a year, with the workers for that program enlisted from the unemployed of our Negro ghettos."

Says Dr. Alec Levin,

Washington physician: "Enlist a corps of young Negro policemen, not trained in the use of firearms but trained in leadership. Put them in every city block."

Says comedian Dick Gregory: "Why didn't we investigate the Minutemen or the white kids rioting at Fort Lauderdale? . . . All the militant were in Newark, and Stokely Carmichael was in Cuba when the Detroit riots started. It's one time riots can't be blamed on him. . . . Negroes call Edward Brooke (Negro Senator from Massachusetts) the white knight. He's stronger than dirt. . . . When you see these old schools, you can understand why the kids want to burn them down to get new ones. . . ."

Preventive Medicine

Says Sargent Shriver, head of the antipoverty program: "The only permanent answer to preventing riots is to attack the causes which produce riots. We are trying to provide alternatives to violence."

Says Rep. James Burke, D-Mass.: "Let's fill up those empty seats in ball parks with underprivileged kids at least once a week. If we nurture a healthy interest in sports, it will naturally attract the young to playgrounds and keep them off the streets. . . . Ten million dollars for two years would provide for about 80 million tickets, an opportunity for 20 million youngsters to see four or five professional games. Why shouldn't more

Says Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y.: "We need a new division in the Justice Department to study better community relations between the police and the people; tranquilizing pellets which can be used rather than bullets to calm violent mobs. The FBI teaches target practice, not community relations."

Note — J. Edgar Hoover is opposed to such a division, but a study just prepared by the Justice Department supports it.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Fred Kappel, retired head of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been spending his time since he retired working for the public. LBJ has appointed him to the President's Committee on Postal Organization, the Commission to Study Executive Salaries, and on the Emergency Board to Mediate the Railroad dispute. . . . Attorney General Ramsey Clark has gone one step further than his father in tangling with the Ku Klux Klan. Tom Clark, when Attorney General under Truman, was the first to put the Ku Klux Klan on the subversive list, along with the Communist party. His son Ramsey has now arrested 12 suspects, most of them Klansmen, in connection with the bombing of school board members' homes and other acts of violence to prevent desegregation.

Do You Remember

By Sophie Miller

I received two colorful historical post cards from my readers. I appreciate when they travel that if they go to American Museums they send me cards from there. I wish they had that type of museums in Kingston. Mrs. E. M. Hendry of Kingston, writes "spending my vacation near Hinsdale, Ill., visited this old mill today, and an old windmill yesterday." The pictures look like the inside of an old country store and post office with bars. There is a red coffee grinder, and a small coal stove and much tinware, and reward posters. They explain the Grouse Mill and Museum, of Hinsdale, Ill., as a country store and post office. One of several on exhibit in the only operating waterwheel gristmill in Illinois, fully restored from original mill built in the 1850's. Open mid-May to late October.

CDR. W. C. Humphrey, SC, USN (ret.) of Arlington, Va., who visits Kingston, and drops in to say Hello to me receives my column from a Kingstonian, who cuts them out and saves them for him. His card comes from Disneyland. His choice of a colorful card for me is a horse-drawn street car. There is a track, and a nice black horse, a conductor in vest, shirt, sleeves, holding the reins. The car is of all bright colors and a wide running board, and full of passengers, and a lady sitting in front with a child next to the conductor. That used to be my favorite spot, when I was a youngster, on our electric trolley cars going to Kingston Farm Park. We had a museum made here, all we had to do is preserve it, and bring the Mary Powell, Norwich, Skillyput, and the Clermont would have welcomed them at the lagoon at the Park.

A. You want us to go to school, but we shouldn't have opinions. Especially about our parents. My history teacher says that there were always wars. Okay. There was always sickness too, but we're trying to cure it. Q. My generation is.

A. You twist things. Your group takes dead aim on the next buck, the next steak, the next bread, and all you tell us is to go to church. I never saw my father go to somebody's house that they don't start with drinks. Got to have drinks. But if we have a bash, and somebody smokes a weed, call the fuzz because the kids are having an orgy.

Q. You're a pretty sharp twister yourself. A. I told you this would come to nothing. Q. It's going pretty good. You can't respect us unless we're perfect. Or at least, less imperfect than you. A. Who needs parents dumber than the children? Did you respect your father, Q. Sure did. My mother too. A. They must have been good people. Q. It's a long way back, but they were good. They also had quick hands for fresh kids.

A. There's a lot of that stuff, but it doesn't work. Just makes the kids shut up. It never changes anything. Q. How can we get to you? I mean, really. A. Stop pretending to be what you ain't. "One good thing about the Vietnam war (he never served in it since he was never drafted) is that the United States has taught us how to kill."

He called for Negro guerilla uprisings in this country.

Brown, charged with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., but free on bond while he awaits an extradition hearing on the charge, made a speech in Cambridge immediately before the riot July 24.

Wednesday the Cambridge chief of police, Brice Kinnamon, told the Senate Judiciary Committee Brown's speech was not only inflammatory but was "the sole reason for our riot."

Kinnamon produced a recorded speech which, the police chief said, Brown made to the Cambridge Negroes. In part it said:

"I mean don't be trying to love the hunky white man to death; shoot him to death, 'cause that's what he's out to do to you. Do it to him. Do it to him first."

Preservation of the High Quality of American Life

By LEWIS C. FRANK Jr.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In less than eight years we will embark on a new age—an age of widespread and disastrous famines. Nothing will avert this crisis. In the new age it won't be the possession of atomic weapons that will have the greatest strategic value, but the possession of food.

These are the premises of a new book, "Famine 1975," by a leading agronomist and a retired State Department official to be published by Little Brown and Co. The authors are brothers, William and Paul Paddock. They say that it is too late for birth control or mammoth agricultural programs to avert the crisis. They urge that the United States write off as hopeless cases a number of underdeveloped and developing nations. They suggest that American resources be used in the fashion of military logistics and that they can be used in the "time of famines" as a catalyst for a new period of American greatness.

The nations and governments who are written off as hopeless by the Paddocks may see in the world a possible blueprint that would be hostile to them.

Controversy

Far from endorsing the premises of the Paddocks' despair or their projected program to build American strength on the hunger of others, we may still be grateful if their work provokes controversy. The time is now (the Paddocks say it is too late) when peoples and governments must be shaken to get proper perspectives on population problems.

In his new best-selling book, "La Vida," anthropologist Oscar Lewis sets forth a theory of "the culture of poverty." He suggests that it is characteristic to live for the day and to fail to plan for the morrow.

Another writer reporting on a family planning project in an Asian village decries the people's inability to plan, their lack of "future orientation."

These observations about the poor are doubtless valid. But if we are to decry the shortsightedness of the poor, we should be screaming at the myopia of wealthy governments and at the relatively well-educated people who elect or tolerate those governments.

The governments of all major world powers know that population growth is outstripping world food production. And in proclaimed awareness our own government is far ahead of the others.

Yet awareness has not been matched by vigorous programming for either food production or fertility control.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, who has been conducting important but too-little-publicized hearings on the "population crisis," has pointed out that fewer than 20 persons in the federal government are working full time on birth control problems.

Study Group

A special study group of the U. S. Public Health Service recently submitted a report calculating how available money or money to become available could best be spent to save lives.

For example they estimated that a $2 million program to get the public to use auto seat belts could avert 23,000 deaths over a five-year period; a $119 million program for early detection of cervical cancer would save 34,000 lives. The seat-belt program would cost $87 a life saved; the cervical cancer program would cost $3,500.

Let's use the same approach. Let's treat the "unwanted pregnancy" as the health problem it is. What could health administrators, Congress and voters expect from a $100-million-a-year program that would serve five million medically indigent women in the childbearing years with family planning advice and supplies on a voluntary basis?

The 5 million is a minimal figure. We have approximately 39 million women in the childbearing years and our poverty ratio is roughly about 20 percent. In 1965 approximately one out of 10 women in the childbearing years gave birth. Using the same figure for the poverty group, where contraception is practiced less effectively, when it is used at all, one group of 5 million gave birth to 500,000 babies, including abortions and miscarriages, we had a total of more than 650,000 pregnancies.

We have shown earlier that a maximum of 60 per cent of pregnancies are desired, including those that are unplanned. Using the same figures for the poverty group, we come up with a staggering total of 300,000 unwanted babies. But this is only part of the tragedy. Using the national figures of the March of Dimes, at least 18,000 of these unwanted babies were born with serious birth defects. And based on U. S. government figures, the fetal deaths, neonatal deaths, and infant deaths, (under 1 year) experienced among this group of women would exceed 17,000 in the single year.

To the nation and communities these personal tragedies add up to staggering costs.

Program

A $100 million program today would provide the finest family planning assistance for every one of the 5 million or more women in the poverty group who would want it and use it. It would include all the costs of supplies, medical examinations, educational materials and personnel.

It could include complete freedom of choice as to method—the virtually 100 per cent effective oral contraceptive compounds, the less effective but useful intrauterine devices and diaphragms, the aerosol foams, or instruction in the use of the temperature rhythm method.

Compared with the U. S. problem, the fertility control problems of the developing nations are staggering. Yet there are hopeful signs on the horizon.

The United Arab Republic, faced with an annual growth rate of 2.7, which would double its 31 million population in only 26 years, has launched a massive fertility-control program. In less than eight months it has put 500,000 women on oral contraceptives and fitted thousands of other women with intrauterine devices.

Pill Plant

Pakistan, with 121 million people and a growth rate that would double its population in only 22 years, has just opened a pill factory that will provide the oral contraceptives for millions of women.

India, which every year adds almost 11 million mouths to its already underfed population, has the largest of all government programs. It pays Indian men to permit sterilization operations, has launched a huge campaign to insert the Lippe loop (the most widely used intrauterine device) and has just approved use of the oral contraceptives.

These governments and others, most notably Korea and Taiwan, have received encouragement and technical support from private American groups such as the Population Council of the Ford Foundation. These organizations and the International Planned Parenthood Federation have done superb pioneering work in demonstrating the use and efficacy of contraceptive methods.

Another hopeful sign was passage by the U. N. General Assembly last year of a resolution on population growth and economic development, which for the first time permits U. N. agencies to assist countries requesting help for advisory services in the field of population.

Catastrophe

But even vastly improved programs in countries with runaway population growth will not necessarily obviate the catastrophe of famine predicted by Raymond Ewell, the Paddocks and others. The hope is that the catastrophes may be reduced in scope. It will cost less in terms of human sufferings and world strife to save lives before they are born than to attempt the impossible task of feeding the world.

The world needs both increased food production and fertility control programs on a scale far beyond anything yet projected. All governments, including our own, must get new perspectives on the problems of population.

Peace Marchers Held at Border; Headed for Expo

CHAMPLAIN, N. Y. (AP)—Forty-five members of a peace group were stopped at a border crossing into Canada Thursday night as they prepared for a 65-mile march to Expo 67 in Montreal.

A spokesman said the marchers had hoped to arrive in the Canadian city by Sunday to observe the 22nd anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima.

Canadian customs officials refused to enter the group en masse, saying they would be required to fill out forms individually—a procedure that takes more than two hours—or post $300 bond each.

While leaders were being advised, several of the marchers picked wild flowers and offered them to customs agents and police. Canadian patriots also came with frankfurters and potato salad for the group.

Police said the 23 young women and 22 young men arrived by car and bus Thursday afternoon in Champlain and from there hiked to the border crossing. They were followed by 10 automobiles carrying camping gear.

Mark Morris of New York City, spokesman for the marchers, said forms would be filled out through the night to permit the hike to continue. He and the Rev. Ashton Jones, of San Diego, Calif., were the first to file through customs.

Morris said several Quakers would join the marchers on Saturday.

McKane Ouster Asked by Council

Charging anti-unionism, an AFL-CIO Union of State Police today called for the removal of John E. McKane, attorney for the Division of State Police.

Al Wurf, executive director of New York State Employees Council 50, AFL-CIO, in his letter to McKane, charged that he was deliberately conducting an anti-union campaign to break State Police Local 1908 and discourage further recruitment.

Wurf said in his letter, "your prejudice towards the AFL-CIO is shocking in face of the fact that the agency you work for, by its nature, should be impartial to all groups and enforce all statutes of the State of New York. Further, as an attorney, you are aware of the spirit and intent of the Taylor Report which grants all employee organizations, even those you may dislike, the right to represent all categories of public employees in the state."

Claims Second Life

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The collision of an automobile and a pickup truck July 17 in neighboring Genesee County claimed a second life Thursday night.

Kenyon P. Ticen, 57, of Attica, operator of the automobile, died in Buffalo General Hospital of injuries suffered in the crash along Route 98, south of Batavia.

The truck-driver, Charles D. Newell Jr., 48, also of Attica, died at the scene.

Getting on Expressway

To enter an expressway safely, blend in with the flow of traffic. The Department of Motor Vehicles offers the following suggestions for doing this: approach cautiously in the entrance ramp as you look for a safe gap in the traffic pattern; then gain speed in the acceleration lane so that you enter the expressway driving lane at the same speed that you intend to travel. The object is to see that all vehicles on expressways are traveling at about the same speed with a safe margin between one another.

Preservation of the High Quality of American Life

By LEWIS C. FRANK Jr.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In less than eight years we will embark on a new age—an age of widespread and disastrous famines. Nothing will avert this crisis. In the new age it won't be the possession of atomic weapons that will have the greatest strategic value, but the possession of food.

These are the premises of a new book, "Famine 1975," by a leading agronomist and a retired State Department official to be published by Little Brown and Co. The authors are brothers, William and Paul Paddock. They say that it is too late for birth control or mammoth agricultural programs to avert the crisis. They urge that the United States write off as hopeless cases a number of underdeveloped and developing nations. They suggest that American resources be used in the fashion of military logistics and that they can be used in the "time of famines"

as a catalyst for a new period of American greatness.

The nations and governments who are written off as hopeless by the Paddocks may see in the world a possible blueprint that would be hostile to them.

Controversy

Far from endorsing the premises of the Paddock's despair or their projected program to build American strength on the hunger of others, we may still be grateful if their work provokes controversy. The time is now (the Paddocks say it is too late) when peoples and governments must be shaken to get proper perspectives on population problems.

In his new best-selling book, "La Vida," anthropologist Oscar Lewis sets forth a theory of "the culture of poverty." He suggests that it is characteristic to live for the day and to fail to plan for the morrow.

Another writer reporting on a family planning project in an Asian village decries the people's inability to plan, their lack of "future orientation."

These observations about the poor are doubtless valid. But if we are to decry the shortsightedness of the poor, we should be screaming at the myopia of wealthy governments and at the relatively well-educated people who elect or tolerate those governments.

The governments of all major world powers know that population growth is outstripping world food production. And in proclaimed awareness our own government is far ahead of the others.

Yet awareness has not been matched by vigorous programming for either food production or fertility control.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, who has been conducting important on the "population crisis," has pointed out that fewer than 20 persons in the federal government are working full time on birth control problems.

Study Group

A special study group of the U. S. Public Health Service recently submitted a report calculating how available money or money to become available could best be spent to save lives.

For example they estimated that a $2 million program to get the public to use auto seat belts could avert 23,000 deaths over a five-year period; a $119 million program for early detection of cervical cancer would save 34,000 lives. The seat-belt program would cost $87 a life saved; the cervical cancer program would cost $3,500.

Let's use the same approach. Let's treat the "unwanted pregnancy" as the health problem it is. What could health administrators, Congress and voters expect from a $100-million-a-year program that would serve five million medically indigent women in the childbearing years with family planning advice and supplies on a voluntary basis?

The 5 million is a minimal figure. We have approximately 39 million women in the childbearing years and our poverty ratio is roughly about 20 per cent. In 1965 approximately one out of 10 women in the childbearing years gave birth. Using the same figure for the poverty group, where contraception is practiced less effectively, when it is used at all, one group of 5 million gave birth to 500,000 babies, including abortions and miscarriages, we had a total of more than 650,000 pregnancies.

We have shown earlier that a maximum of 60 per cent of pregnancies are desired, including those that are unplanned.

Using the same figures for the poverty group, we come up with a staggering total of 300,000 unwanted babies.

But this is only part of the tragedy. Using the national

The object is to see that all vehicles on expressways are traveling at about the same speed with a safe margin between one another.

figures of the March of Dimes, at least 18,000 of these unwanted babies were born with serious birth defects. And based on U. S. government figures, the fetal deaths, neonatal deaths, and infant deaths, (under 1 year) experienced among this group of women would exceed 17,000 in the single year.

To the nation and communities these personal tragedies add up to staggering costs.

Program

A $100 million program today would provide the finest family planning assistance for every one of the 5 million or more women in the poverty group who would want it and use it. It would include all the costs of supplies, medical examinations, educational materials and personnel.

It could include complete freedom of choice as to method—the virtually 100 per cent effective oral contraceptive compounds, the less effective but useful intrauterine devices and diaphragms, the aerosol foams, or instruction in the use of the temperature rhythm method.

Compared with the U. S. problem, the fertility control problems of the developing nations are staggering. Yet there are hopeful signs on the horizon.

The United Arab Republic, faced with an annual growth rate of 2.7, which would double its 31 million population in only 26 years, has launched a massive fertility-control program. In less than eight months it has put 500,000 women on oral contraceptives and fitted thousands of other women with intrauterine devices.

Pill Plant

Pakistan, with 121 million people and a growth rate that would double its population in only 22 years, has just opened a pill factory that will provide the oral contraceptives for millions of women.

India, which every year adds almost 11 million mouths to its already underfed population, has the largest of all government programs. It pays Indian men to permit sterilization operations, has launched a huge campaign to insert the Lippe loop (the most widely used intrauterine device) and has just approved use of the oral contraceptives.

These governments and others, most notably Korea and Taiwan, have received encouragement and technical support from private American groups such as the Population Council of the Ford Foundation. These organizations and the International Planned Parenthood Federation have done superb pioneering work in demonstrating the use and efficacy of contraceptive methods.

Another hopeful sign was passage by the U. N. General Assembly last year of a resolution on population growth and economic development, which for the first time permits U. N. agencies to assist countries requesting help for advisory services in the field of population.

To Avoid Latin-American Strife

Urge Arms Sale Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly has urged Western European countries to not sell to Latin-American countries modern armaments, such as jet aircraft, which might set off a new Latin arms race and burden Latin economies.

Officials said two major U.S. policies are involved in the effort which has been made over a period of months.

—To try to suppress arms races all over the world.

—To promote economic development and higher living standards in underdeveloped countries.

The State Department said Thursday the United States vetoed the sale by Britain to Peru of six Canberra jet bombers which the British Royal Air Force no longer uses. The planes are an early type of jet attack aircraft, essentially the same as the U. S. B-57.

At the same time State Department officials said the United States advised Peru and several other Latin-American countries that Washington is not interested in supplying them with modern F5 jet fighter planes about which they have made inquiries.

Since 1962, however, the United States has supplied $45-million worth of less sophisticated arms and munitions to Peru, including F80 and F86 fighter planes. This equipment was mostly of World War II and Korean War vintage.

Officials fear that supplying newer equipment would force Latin arms competition—criticized in Congress earlier this year—to a new level.

Britain's Canberra deal was vetoed under long-time agreements between Washington and London which provide that the United States may approve or disapprove the sale to other countries of armaments which the United States has supplied to Britain or helped finance.

Officials said while some arms in the European countries which have received U.S. military assistance are subject to the provisions governing sale to other countries, large supplies of jet planes, tanks and other modern weapons are not.

Nine Persons Hurt, 3 Cited in Mishaps

Nine persons were injured, several others escaped unhurt and three motorists were cited by state troopers for vehicle and traffic law violations as the result of highway mishaps in the area Thursday and early today.

A sleepy motorist and rain-slick highway were blamed for at least two of the accidents, authorities said.

Hits Tree, Fence

Two persons were injured at 2:15 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding west on Route 212 between Bearsville and Shady went out of control and hit a tree and wood fence, Trooper John McMickle said James Stearns, 19, of Logan, Utah, operator of the car owned by Rawhide Ranch, Lake Hill, fell asleep at the steering wheel.

Stearns sustained lacerations of the right cheek. A passenger, Bonnie Rush, 19, of 188 North Street, Foxboro, Mass., suffered a fracture of the mouth. Both were taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance. Trooper Roy Martinussen of Kingston substitution investigated.

Miss Mary Bremer, 17, of Box 226, Clintonville, was injured Thursday when her car went out of control and veered off the left shoulder of Cow Hough Road, Town of Esopus, and hit rocks. She was taken to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale. An attendant said the driver sustained back injuries and possible cerebral concussion. She is a student nurse.

3 Youths Hurt

Three youths were injured at 10 p. m. yesterday when the car in which they were riding failed to negotiate a right curve on Game Farm Road, Town of Catskill and slammed into an embankment. Trooper E. J. McPhail of Leeds said the 1967 roadster was operated by Paul F. Hilgendorff, 18, of Purling, and traveling west at the time of the mishap.

Hilgendorff, who sustained lacerations and abrasions, was cited by Trooper E. J. Barboro for failure to keep to the right. Passengers in the car were John Tenme, 17, 74 Clover Avenue, and Philip J. Jensen, of 62 Stewart Street, both of Floral Park. They also were treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for lacerations and abrasions.

Thruway Crash

A Long Island family of three suffered injuries Thursday when their car went out of control during a rain shower and hit a rock cut on the State Thruway about eight miles north of Saugerties near mile post 109.

State Trooper Joseph Stinton reported Gunter Karsch, of Elmhurst, was cited for driving at a speed too fast for conditions. Karsch and two passengers, Hildegard Karsch and Teresa Karsch, suffered fractures. They were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital and later transferred to a New York City hospital.

Elizabeth Karpis, 20, of William Road, Bolton, Conn., escaped injury at 3:45 p. m. Thursday when his 1964 sedan went out of control on Elka Park Road, Town of Hunter, and hit a house. Trooper J. J. Zagurski cited Karpis for failure to keep to the right. The car was traveling south on the road when it veered off the left shoulder, troopers said.

City Accidents

Two car collisions and a bike-auto accident were investigated by Kingston Police late Thursday afternoon, it was reported today.

Police said there were no serious injuries.

According to city police, two cars collided shortly past noon yesterday at the intersection of Smith Avenue and Downs Street.

Police noted that a car operated by Frederick Kelsey, 31, Old Lyme, Conn., was traveling south on Downs Street. A second car, driven by Stanley Woodbury, 45, of Stratford, Conn., traveling west along Smith Avenue, allegedly ran a stop sign and struck the Kelsey vehicle.

Green and John Streets was the scene of another accident, police said. Police noted that a car driven by Gabriel Roqui, 60 Cedar Street, turned from John into Green colliding with the rear of an auto operated by Albert Deluca, 53, of Kingston.

Thomas Rundle, 94 Tammany Street, a bike rider, is reported to have collided with the fender of a car driven by Albert W. Vedder, 56, 17 Lisa Lane.

The mishap occurred on Lisa Lane.

tive duties of the mayor and city manager would be, in his opinion.

Garraghan said the city manager would run the business end of the government while he would attend board meetings of various city agencies and work in the area of human relations.

The mayor was asked if he wanted his city manager proposals put on the ballot in November in the form of referendum.

He said it was a possibility but doubted if he could get it through the Common Council without a great deal of "difficultly."

Garraghan commented on his Wednesday trip to Brockton, Mass., to look over their urban renewal project. The head of the Brockton Redevelopment Agency is Gerald Early, brother of Mrs. Marie Gonsline of East Kingston.

Early has been to Kingston on several occasions observing urban renewal, according to Garraghan. He was quoted by the mayor as saying that "chaos is common in almost every urban renewal project."

In other developments this morning the mayor released a telegram from the State Division of the Lottery which urged him to push the sale of lottery tickets in Kingston. The telegram noted that 36 2/3 cents out of every dollar ticket sold is returned to the localities for educational purposes.

The telegram stated that the city was eligible to sell tickets and urged the mayor to apply for a license by contacting Ernest T. Bird, director, Division of Lottery, in Albany.

Mayor Garraghan also urged everyone to take advantage of the central registration day in Kingston, Monday, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. at the municipal auditorium. "If we get a good response on this thing," the mayor said, "we'll have more registration days."

Garraghan received several telephone calls about the cutting down of trees in Lawton Park. Apparently the callers thought all the trees were coming down. The mayor assured them that the trees were just being thinned out. He sent city recreation director, Andrew J. Murphy III, down to the park to check on the work.

Expansion of the Ulster Water District

Expansion of the Ulster Water District was authorized at the Thursday night meeting of the Town of Ulster Board.

Abram Winchell of the Ulster Water District was directed to purchase needed pipes and have Wellington Beckert install mains connecting Sunset Park and Forest Glen Park. Connecting of deadend areas comes under the water expansion program of the district.

The Water Resources Commission of the Department of Conservation gave approval of new well site on Fording Place Road as a new supply of water. The new well will have a capacity flow of 1,000 gallons per minute. A public hearing was held July 10 at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall at which time facts and figures were presented to the water resources commission.

James Matteo was appointed to the park commission replacing William Reilly who has moved from the township.

KAMEMBE, Rwanda (AP) — Rebel troops killed about 100 Congolese soldiers in a clash Thursday near Bukavu in the Congo's Kivu Province, a French sealer from the area said in Kamembe today.

He said the rebels—white mercenaries and Katanga gendarmes—also captured three of the four armored vehicles supporting the regular Congo troops. There was no word on rebel casualties.

The rebels killed about 50 Congolese soldiers and destroyed three of their armored cars in a four-hour battle Tuesday. A Congolese government communiqué said 10 mercenaries were killed and many injured in that fight.

Contain Flames at School

Firefighters from Centerville and Pine Grove made a timely stop Thursday afternoon, when they fought a blaze in the laundry room at the Pine Grove School and Camp, Town of Saugerties.

The two fire companies in charge of Chief Frank Ward were dispatched to the school at 2:56 p. m. after fire was discovered. Firemen managed to contain the flames to the laundry room area, in a building attached to a main dormitory.

Chief Ward said the origin of the blaze was not determined but he said electric wiring was not involved. The intense heat in the building bowed a 12-inch eye beam which supported the roof of the structure and melted wires.

"The bulk of the fire damage was caused to children's clothing," Ward said. The fire units reported back in service at 4:17 p. m. a dispatcher at the county fire control center said.

Chief Ward said it was not necessary to evacuate any of the buildings.

tive duties of the mayor and city manager would be, in his opinion.

Garraghan said the city manager would run the business end of the government while he would attend board meetings of various city agencies and work in the area of human relations.

The mayor was asked if he wanted his city manager proposals put on the ballot in November in the form of referendum.

He said it was a possibility but doubted if he could get it through the Common Council without a great deal of "difficultly."

Garraghan commented on his Wednesday trip to Brocton, Mass., to look over their urban renewal project. The head of the Brocton Redevelopment Agency is Gerald Early, brother of Mrs. Marie Gorsline of East Kingston.

Early has been to Kingston on several occasions observing urban renewal. He was quoted by Garraghan as saying that "chaos is in motion in almost every urban renewal project."

In other developments this morning the mayor released a telegram from the State Division of the Lottery which urged him to push the sale of lottery tickets in Kingston. The telegram noted that $62 2/3 cents out of every dollar ticket sold is returned to the localities for educational purposes.

The telegram stated that the city was eligible to sell tickets and urged the mayor to apply for a license by contacting Ernest T. Bird, director, Division of Lottery in Albany.

Mayor Garraghan also urged everyone to take advantage of the central registration day in Kingston. Monday, from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. at the municipal auditorium. "If we get a good response on this thing," the mayor said, "we'll have more registration days."

Garraghan received several telephone calls about the cutting down of trees in Lawton Park. Apparently the callers thought all the trees were coming down. The mayor assured them that the trees were just being thinned out. He sent city recreation director Andrew J. Murphy III, down to the park to check on the work.

GM Asks Change In Union Pact On Living Costs

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has served notice on the United Auto Workers that it wants changes in the cost-of-living formula in any new contract with the union.

The statement came Thursday when the company laid its 1967 bargaining demands on the negotiating table.

"The present cost-of-living arrangement has come to be taken for granted as extra increases over the above those provided for the vast majority of the nation's work force," the company said.

Current three-year pacts covering some 750,000 auto workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler expire Sept. 6.

Beria Dominated Stalin: Svetlana

By RODNEY PINDER
LONDON (AP) — Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, claims in her memoirs that Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet secret police chief, dominated her father for the last 20 years of his life.

Mrs. Alliluyeva claims that Beria became the dominating influence over her father after he was rocked by her mother's suicide in 1932 and maintained that influence until the dictator died in his country home outside Moscow in 1953.

Beria, "always repulsive," brooded over Stalin at the end, posing as "the most loyal, the most faithful," while the aged dictator died in agony after a cerebral hemorrhage, Mrs. Alliluyeva writes.

Hutchinson & Co., Mrs. Alliluyeva's authorized British publisher, issued a Russian-language edition of her memoirs, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," on Thursday. The English-language edition is to appear in October.

The day after Stalin's death, his daughter writes, Beria summarily dismissed and exiled aides and members of the household staff, but not before some of them committed suicide in the hysteria following the death.

Beria was jailed on treason charges by Stalin's successors and put to death nine months after the dictator's death, Nikita S. Khrushchev, in the recent NBC television program "Khrushchev in Exile," also blamed Beria for Stalin's misdeeds.

The book largely sidesteps politics and concentrates on the writer's life with her father.

Mrs. Alliluyeva said her father believed there was a doctors' plot against him and permitted no physicians in his home for several months before he died. He took pills and iodine occasionally, she wrote, and the day before his fatal stroke took a steam bath, which the author said a doctor would never have permitted.

When the end approached, she said, frantic efforts were made to save the old man. Leeches were put to his head and neck and he was given cardiograms, X rays and continuous injections.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in active trading early Friday, taking off from Thursday's late recovery drive.

Gains outnumbered losses by well over 2 to 1.

The gain in the industrial average was modest, however. The emphasis was less on blue chips than on a wide range of secondary stocks.

Gains of about 2 points were made on heavy volume in such issues as Gulf & Western Industries, Fairchild Camera, McDonnell Douglas, Motorola, Studebaker and Control Data.

The strongest showing by blue chips was made by Du Pont which added about 2 points as it continued its latest upsurge.

IBM lost 2. Xerox rose more than a point. General Motors lost about 1.

On opening blocks of 10,000 shares, Kerr-McGee eased 1/4 to 144 1/4 and Montgomery Ward rose 1/4 to 25 1/4.

Other opening blocks included:

CBS, up 1/4 at 64 1/4 on 14,000 shares; Fairchild Camera, up 1/4 at 110 on 13,700; Flintkote, up 1/4 at 27 1/4 on 11,000; Woolworth, unchanged at 32 1/4 on 10,700; and American Telephone, off 1/4 at 51 1/4 on 11,000.

The reaction to President Johnson's call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge was reported to range from lukewarm to chilly among congressmen, with few except some Democratic leaders offering unqualified support.

On the American Stock Exchange, the trend was generally higher. Solitron Devices rose nearly 2 points.

Reaction Is Varied On 10 PC Surcharge

By BOB MONROE
NEW YORK (AP) — Bankers generally have applauded President Johnson's proposed tax hike but some businessmen were less enthusiastic. Man on the street reaction ranged from resigned acceptance to outright opposition.

Many persons suggested that cuts could be made in domestic spending to lessen the need for the full 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and personal income taxes that the President proposed Thursday.

"A prompt tax increase is clearly needed," said President Gabriel Hauge of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. in New York.

But Edmund F. Martin, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, said: "At a period when the economy actually is softening, we feel a tax increase would worsen the situation."

The president of the National Association of Manufacturers said the proposal recognized the nation's "grave fiscal situation" but added the hope that a strong effort would be made to reduce nondefense spending.

A random sampling of 35 persons in cities around the nation produced only three people who said without reservation that a tax hike was necessary and they favored the proposal.

Better than two-thirds of those interviewed were in general agreement with Frank Snyder, 50, a Seattle engineer who said: "If we need it, we need it. I guess. Somebody has to pay the bill. I hate taxes, but they're a necessary evil. We have to do it, but we don't have to like it."

Others opposed the increase because of the war. Sherman Pulley, 23, a Washington, D.C., light company clerk, said: "It's unfair. It makes us directly support the war in Vietnam."

"It makes it a personal commitment. I don't favor the war. We should bring the troops home and spend the money on the poverty program, educational facilities, things like that," he said.

Propose Lease Arrangement For NH Railroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three railroads have been asked by the Interstate Commerce Commission to work out an arrangement under which the bankrupt New Haven Railroad would automatically be leased by a merged Pennsylvania and New York Central system.

The commission Thursday asked the New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads to formulate the plan to assure the continued operation of the New Haven.

The commission said there is a public transportation crisis in the New Haven territory, because of the railroad's "worsening financial condition."

The agency added this condition requires "that a prompt undertaking in New Haven operations by Penn-Central be ready as an alternative immediately available upon consummation of the Penn-Central merger."

In approving the New York Central - Pennsylvania merger, the ICC set as a condition that the merged system must take over the New Haven's operations.

Aldermen Swap Charges

The argument over rezoning in the 12th Ward got down to the personal level today with Alderman Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward) accusing Alderman John Machione (R-12th Ward) of poor representation of his (Machione's) Ward.

Machione countered with, "Mr. Norton is very carefully making political hay out of this issue."

The rezoning of the 12th Ward is for the purpose of building a $1,500,000 garden-type apartment complex in the area of Merritt and Fairview Avenues.

Machione claims the rezoning is being rushed through without properly informing the people of the 12th Ward. Norton claims Machione knew what was going on all the time.

Machione says that the Common Council and its president, Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig, support him. He said the council's recess to study the matter Tuesday was evidence of this.

Machione charges that Norton set up the public hearing as chairman of the council Laws and Rules Committee without taking the "courtesy" of informing him. Machione said he received a "routine notice" from the city clerk the day before the public hearing.

A meeting has been scheduled for Wednesday night at 7:30 at the new Edson School. All the principals have been invited, according to Machione, who says, "Norton will have ample opportunity to show what he knows and how impartial he is on this matter at the meeting."

Shy Parking Tickets

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Mansfield is running short on parking tickets and no one seems to care, says Douglas Hazen, city safety director.

Three requests in the City Council for money to print more forms have been ignored, seriously putting a crimp on the number of tickets police can give out, Hazen said Thursday.

Record 197 Missions

Planes Blast North

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes hammered North Vietnam with 197 strike missions Thursday, 22 more than were ever flown in a single day during the 2 1/2 years of bombing the Communist North, the U. S. Command said today.

U. S. headquarters also announced that 635 combat planes have been lost over North Vietnam, including an Air Force F105 Thunderchief downed by ground fire Thursday and three losses not previously disclosed.

The ground war continued in one of its periodic lulls and two major operations ended.

One was the massive sweep by an estimated 10,000 U. S. and South Vietnamese troops in the Maekong Delta 23 miles south of the Dong Khe railroad siding 28 miles northwest of Vinh and the Ly Nhan siding 27 miles north-east of Thanh Hoa.

Pilots from the carrier Oriskany pounded a warehouse eight miles northwest of Haiphong, but heavy smoke prevented assessment of damage.

Air Force pilots attacked a 100-foot concrete and steel bridge 14 miles northeast of the port city and "the bridge completely disappeared," said Lt. Col. Harry W. Schurr, 39, of Indiana, Pa. one of the fliers.

Other Air Force pilots reported damaging one end of the Bac Giang railroad and highway bridge 27 miles northeast of Hanoi and damaging four anti-aircraft sites in the area. And air men who attacked a railroad yard 39 miles northeast of the Communist capital said white smoke engulfed the area.

The U. S. Command said 87 missions were flown by the Air Force, 74 by the Navy and 36 by the Marines.

This broke a record that had stood for nearly 10 months—175 missions last Oct. 14.

In South Vietnam, the Communists brought down a U. S. Marine CH-46 helicopter near the once girl, Mother, baby and Blake were reported doing fine Thursday.

Assisted by two other officers, Blake was credited with his first delivery—a 7-pound, 53-cent girl, Mother, baby and Blake were reported doing fine Thursday.

Order AP Men Out of Congo; Reuters Also

KINSHASA The Congo (AP) — The Congolese government today ordered all correspondents and photographers of The Associated Press to leave the Congo within 48 hours.

A similar measure was announced against a representative of the British news agency, Reuters.

Information Minister Jean Jacques Kande said the decision was taken by President Joseph D. Mobutu personally.

Kande told Michael Goldsmith of The Associated Press the AP men were being expelled because AP stories had "speculated about Russian plans which are bringing Tshombe to the Congo and the route they are supposed to take, by way of Cairo."

Ex-Premier Moise Tshombe, under arrest in Algeria, faces a death sentence here.

Kande said the government also objected to an AP report from Burumbura, Burundi three weeks ago quoting Congolese Interior Minister Etienne Tshisekedi as saying some white residents had been killed and eaten by undisciplined troops in Katanga.

In a separate meeting with Francois Durand of Reuters, Kande said the government objected to Reuters reports of casualties suffered by the Congolese army in a battle with mercenaries Tuesday.

American Ambassador Robert H. McBride and British Ambassador John Cotton said they planned to urge Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko to have the expulsion order rescinded.

Also affected by the measure were a part-time Associated Press reporter Pierre Mose, a Swiss citizen, and Associated Press photographer Max Nash.

Score Proposal To Limit Data On Crime News

HONOLULU (AP)—News media representatives opened first today on recommendations by an American Bar Association study group that would limit reporting of crime news.

"The classic function of the press is to find out everything it can about government, about law enforcement," said J. Edward Murray of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

"That's what the free flow of news means, what the reporter can find out, not what the public servant wants to give him on a platter."

Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, is chairman of the society's Freedom of Information and Press-Bar Committee.

He spoke out against the proposals in remarks prepared for a day-long hearing sponsored by the ABA's section on judicial administration.

"To begin, you will poison the stream of crime and police news by deliberately managing that news at its source," Murray said.

The ABA recommendations are the result of a 20-month study by 10 prominent judges and lawyers on the constitutional guarantees of free press and fair trial.

Unveiled last October by the panel headed by Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, they stirred immediate controversy within the law and journalism professions.

In the main, the Reardon report calls on lawyers and police to restrict their comments on pending criminal cases and to cut back on the release of information about them. The stated objective is to help assure fair trials for criminal defendants.

However, Murray told the ABA group: "We of the media contend that, if you adopt the Reardon sanctions, you will cripple the press as a watchdog of law enforcement, as the traditional enemy of secret arrest and the traditional friend of fair trial."

Nytralite, Book Center Jobs Probed

Burglaries at the Nytralite Aggregate plant at Eddyville and the Book Center Inc., Ulster Shopping Plaza, were under investigation today by the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the Kingston State Police.

It was learned at the Book Center that a small sum of money was missing. An employee said there apparently had been no forced entry.

At the Eddyville plant, it was learned that entry was gained by breaking a rear window. An employee said the contents were trashed and the contents thrown around. Between $50 and $100 was missing from one desk.

The Libyans began talks in Benghazi Tuesday with the British over the liquidation of Britain's El Adem Airbase near Tobruk and evacuation of British troops in Libya.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — John E. McKane, charged by officials of AFL - CIO State Employees Council 50 as anti-union, has resigned as counsel to the State Police.

McKane said he announced his resignation a month ago, and left to enter a private law partnership in the Mechanville area. The resignation was effective Wednesday.

Young Bachelor Should Seek Assured Growth

Q "I am a 29-year-old bachelor schoolteacher. I own American Hospital; International Minerals; Stewart-Warner; Universal Marion; Copeland Refrigerator. I wonder if I should switch Stewart-Warner."

A I commend you on putting together a generally sound list of stocks. I am not sure, though, that these are in all instances the wisest selections for a man in your situation. American Hospital appears to be your best issue from the standpoint of strong and consistent growth. Copeland has been doing well — with occasional cyclical variations — and I would hold this one. Stewart-Warner is also subject to cyclical influence but the earnings pattern has been upward for many years.

Rather than disturb this holding, I believe you should take a longer look at International Minerals and Universal Marion. The former may be facing an oversupply condition in potash, a major product. UVC is aggressive and has been lifting earnings sharply, but there are speculative elements here that in my opinion lower its attraction for a person like yourself. I would seek more assured growth, switching these two stocks into Holiday Inns, which has proposed a split, and Skil Corp., which has a good record of growth and price appreciation.

Q "Why do you favor electric utilities over natural gas distributors? Do you recommend any natural gas stocks?"

A I favor certain electric utilities over natural gas distributors as a group, because their performance has been better, and I learned years ago never to fight the tape. There is nothing wrong with the gas distributing stocks except that they have long been out of investor favor. The reason appears to lie in tight federal regulation of pipelines. This has little effect on intrastate distributors but it is associated with them in the public mind. There are some fine gas distributors which I like for income and moderate growth. Among them are Brooklyn Union and Peoples Gas Light & Coke.

Business Mirror Reflections

Business Executives Needed on Campuses

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are writers in residence, musicians in residence, artists and poets in residence on America's campuses, so why not a business executive in residence.

Dean Ossian MacKenzie, who heads the business college at Pennsylvania State University, asked himself why not. Now Penn State has an executive in residence, and the program is being studied and copied by other schools.

Bruce Wiesley, vice president of American Can Co., was the first. He was followed by James Victor Jones of Armstrong Cork Co. A third executive may be named shortly.

"It takes a lot of doing, a lot of organizing," said MacKenzie, "but this is one of the most stimulating things we've ever done."

The companies which provide the executives also must be stimulated because, as MacKenzie says, "the men we want are in operating positions. They must be in decision-making capacities, on the firing line."

"I had 20 graduate students in my group," Wiesley explained. "We agreed on a selected list of topics with the faculty. I met with the professors and we decided on subject material and developed a bibliography."

According to MacKenzie, Wiesley did a lot more too.

"The days Bruce spent here may have been among his hardest," said MacKenzie. "He worked from 8 in the morning until 10:30 at night."

"Our term is 10 weeks and he spent about three of those here on campus, a week at the beginning of the course, a week in the middle and then a week at the end." The third week was devoted largely to term papers.

"In addition," said MacKenzie, "he spoke before some undergraduate honor students. He also was a consultant to the faculty, which met in seminars of four or five persons."

During this time Wiesley was responsible for his position back at American Can, which approved highly of the program and which, Wiesley believes, would send another executive if asked.

"This is a good way of bridging the gap between modern business, industrial life and the academic community," he says.

Walgreen Stock Split Proposed

The board of directors of Walgreen Company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share, payable Sept. 12, 1967, to shareholders of record Aug. 14, 1967. The directors voted to propose to the shareholders that a class of preferred stock be authorized; that the authorized Common Shares of the company be increased, and the outstanding Common Shares be split two-for-one. The board directed the calling of a special meeting of shareholders to be held Thursday, Sept. 21, 1967, to vote on these proposals and fixed Aug. 14, 1967 as the record date for such meeting.

The board stated that if the stock split is approved by the shareholders, the board intends to place the common shares on a regular quarterly dividend basis of 22 1/2 cents per share. This would represent an increase in the quarterly rate on the present stock from 35 to 45 cents per share. The board further declared its intention of declaring the first quarterly dividend at the new rate for payment on Dec. 12, 1967, to holders of record on Nov. 14, 1967.

Beria Dominated Stalin: Svetlana

By RODNEY PINDER
LONDON (AP) — Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, claims in her memoirs that Lavrenty P. Beria, Soviet secret police chief, dominated her father for the last 20 years of his life.

Mrs. Alliluyeva claims that Beria became the dominating influence over her father after he was rocked by her mother's suicide in 1932 and maintained that influence until the dictator died in his country home outside Moscow in 1953.

Beria, "always repulsive," brooded over Stalin at the end, posing as "the most loyal, the most faithful," while the aged dictator died in agony after a cerebral hemorrhage, Mrs. Alliluyeva writes.

Hutchinson & Co., Mrs. Alliluyeva's authorized British publisher, issued a Russian-language edition of her memoirs, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," on Thursday. The English-language edition is to appear in October.

The day after Stalin's death, his daughter writes, Beria summarily dismissed and exiled the aides and members of the household staff, but not before some of them committed suicide in the hysteria following the death.

Beria was jailed on treason charges by Stalin's successors and put to death nine months after the dictator's death, Nikita S. Khrushchev, in the recent NBC television program "Khrushchev in Exile," also blamed Beria for Stalin's misdeeds.

The book largely sidesteps politics and concentrates on the writer's life with her father.

Mrs. Alliluyeva said her father believed there was a doctors' plot against him and permitted no physicians in his home for several months before he died. He took pills and iodine occasionally, she wrote, and the day before his fatal stroke took a steam bath, which the author said a doctor would never have permitted.

When the end approached, she said, frantic efforts were made to save the old man. Leeches were put to his head and neck and he was given cardiograms, X rays and continuous injections.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced in active trading early Friday, taking off from Thursday's late recovery drive.

Gains outnumbered losses by well over 2 to 1.

The gain in the industrial average was modest, however. The emphasis was less on blue chips than on a wide range of secondary stocks.

Gains of about 2 points were made on heavy volume in such issues as Gulf & Western Industries, Fairchild Camera, McDonnell Douglas, Motorola, Studebaker and Control Data.

The strongest showing by blue chips was made by Du Pont which added about 2 points as it continued its latest upsurge.

IBM lost 2, Xerox rose more than a point, General Motors lost about 1.

On opening blocks of 10,000 shares, Kerr-McGee eased 1/4 to 144 1/4 and Montgomery Ward rose 1/4 to 25 1/4.

Other opening blocks included CBS, up 1/4 at 64 1/4 on 14,000 shares; Fairchild Camera, up 1/4 at 110 on 15,700; Flintkote, up 1/4 at 27 1/4 on 11,000; Woolworth, unchanged at 32 1/4 on 10,700; and American Telephone, off 1/4 at 51 1/4 on 11,000.

The reaction to President Johnson's call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge was reported to range from lukewarm to chilly among congressmen, with few except some Democratic leaders offering unqualified support.

On The American Stock Exchange, the trend was generally higher. Solitron Devices rose nearly 2 points.

Record 197 Missions

Planes Blast North

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes hammered North Vietnam with 197 strike missions Thursday, 22 more than were ever flown in a single day during the 2 1/2 years of bombing the Communist North, the U. S. Command said today.

U. S. headquarters also announced that 635 combat planes have been lost over North Vietnam, including an Air Force F105 Thunderchief downed by ground fire Thursday and three losses not previously disclosed.

The ground war continued in one of its periodic lulls and two major operations ended.

One was the massive sweep by an estimated 10,000 U. S. and South Vietnamese troops in the Maekong Delta 23 miles south of the Dong Khe railroad siding 28 miles northwest of Vinh and the Ly Nhan siding 27 miles north-east of Thanh Hoa.

Pilots from the carrier Oriskany pounded a warehouse eight miles northwest of Haiphong, but heavy smoke prevented assessment of damage.

Air Force pilots attacked a 100-foot concrete and steel bridge 14 miles northeast of the port city and "the bridge completely disappeared," said Lt. Col. Harry W. Schurr, 39, of Indiana, Pa., one of the fliers.

Other Air Force pilots reported damaging one end of the Bao Giang railroad and highway bridge 27 miles northeast of Hanoi and damaging four anti-aircraft sites in the area. And airmen who attacked a railroad yard 39 miles northeast of the Communist capital said white smoke engulfed the area.

The U. S. Command said 87 missions were flown by the Air Force, 74 by the Navy and 36 by the Marines.

This broke a record that had stood for nearly 10 months—175 missions last Oct. 14.

In South Vietnam, the Communists brought down a U. S. Marine CH46 helicopter near the A Shau Valley and three Marines aboard were wounded, a U. S. spokesman said.

A Shau, on the Laotian border 400 miles north of Saigon, was the target of two B52 raids. The bombers have hit the area almost daily since the Communists overran a U. S. Special Forces camp there a year and a half ago.

The B52s bombed enemy gun positions, base camps and storage areas one mile east of the abandoned American camp and rail storage sites and trail networks four miles to the northwest.

The bombers also struck twice at enemy troop concentrations in Pleiku Province 250 miles north of Saigon and once in Long Khanh Province 50 miles northeast of Saigon.

On the political front, the second presidential slate in South Vietnam's Sept. 3 election announced a peace platform.

The presidential candidate, Truong Dinh Dzu, said he is determined to stop the war and proposed a cease-fire, a halt to the bombing of the North and a new Geneva conference.

Phan Khac Suu's vice presidential running mate, Phan Quang Dan, injected peace into the campaign earlier Thursday by urging negotiations with the Communists "at all levels, including the National Liberation Front," the political branch of the Viet Cong.

He spoke out against the proposals in remarks prepared for a day-long hearing sponsored by the ABA's section on judicial administration.

HONOLULU (AP)—News media representatives opened fire today on recommendations by an American Bar Association study group that would limit reporting of crime news.

Q "Why do you favor electric utilities over natural gas distributors? Do you recommend any natural gas stocks?"

A) I favor certain electric utilities over natural gas distributors as a group, because their performance has been better, and I learned years ago never to fight the tape. There is nothing wrong with the gas distributing stocks except that they have long been out of investors' favor. The reason appears to lie in tight federal regulation of pipelines. This has little effect on intrastate distributors but it is associated with them in the public mind.

There are some fine gas distributors which I like for instance, and moderate growth. Among them are Brooklyn Union and Peoples Gas Light & Coke.

Business Mirror Reflections

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are writers in residence, musicians in residence, artists and poets in residence on America's campuses, so why not a business executive in residence.

Dean Ossian MacKenzie, who heads the business college at Pennsylvania State University, asked himself why not. Now Penn State has an executive in residence, and the program is being studied and copied by other schools.

Bruce Wiesley, vice president of American Can Co., was the first. He was followed by James Victor Jones of Armstrong Cork Co. A third executive may be named shortly.

"It takes a lot of doing, a lot of organizing," said MacKenzie, "but this is one of the most stimulating things we've ever done."

The companies which provide the executives also must be stimulated because, as MacKenzie says, "the men we want are in operating positions. They must be in decision-making capacities, on the firing line."

According to MacKenzie, Wiesley did a lot more too.

"The days Bruce spent here may have been among his hardest," said MacKenzie. "He worked from 8 in the morning until 10:30 at night."

"Our term is 10 weeks and he spent about three of those here on campus, a week at the beginning of the course, a week in the middle and then a week at the end." The third week was devoted largely to term papers.

"In addition," said MacKenzie, "he spoke before some undergraduates, honor students. He also was a consultant to the faculty, which met in seminars of four or five persons."

During this time Wiesley was responsible for his position back at American Can, which approved highly of the program and which, Wiesley believes, would send another executive if asked.

"This is a good way of bridging the gap between modern business, industrial life and the academic community," he says.

U.S. Personalities In Swinging London

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

LONDON (AP) — Notes from swinging London. The gambling casino is still advertised as George Raft's Colony, even though its onetime host is barred from Britain as undesirable. The Beverly Hillbillies are filming background shots all around London town. Another arrival is Red Skelton, here for segments with a symphony orchestra playing his compositions.

American tourists, accustomed to free movies on cross-country flights, are jolted by the $2.50 charge across the Atlantic. Seen in the Hotel Dorchester lobby: Sean Connery with long hair for a Western he plans to film in Mexico. Ray Milland arrived to direct an English movie.

Deborah Kerr recovered from an ear ailment and rejoined the cast of "Prudence and the Pill." Rare theater experience: watching Sir Ralph Richardson romp through "The Rivals" at the Haymarket. Isobel Jeans has replaced Margaret Rutherford in the play-the Academy Award winner became unable to remember the malaprops.

Spotted in a cozy corner of L'Etoile restaurant, Hayley Mills and her 53-year-old director-boyfriend, Roy Boulting, "Fiddler on the Roof" is a big hit at Her Majesty's theater, and some say Israeli comic Topol is the best to play the lead role yet.

Their associates suspect the Beatles will never get together on another movie. The Monkees have made a dept in England, but mostly with the subtle set. Explicit sign on a movie stage: "You must enter the stage quietly—do not let the door bang." Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" is being advertised in its "15th unshamed year" at the Ambassadors Theater.

BBC has begun experimenting and they cost about $800 to buy with color prior to its official or $5.60 per week rental. There start of color programming are an estimated 1,000 sets in Dec. 2. Color sets are scarce, England today.

Muddy Water Navy -- Could Be Most Potent

CAN THO, Vietnam (AP) — They call it the muddy water navy. Pound-for-pound it is perhaps the most powerful fleet America ever had.

All the 31-foot river patrol boats have more weapons than the four-man crew can fire at one time.

Swap Around

"We like to sort of swap around," grinned Thomas Roberts, 19, an engineman from Sitka, Alaska. He can handle a machine gun, grenade launcher, M16 rifle or pistol.

The fiberglass boats started working major estuaries in the Mekong delta last year to drive off the Viet Cong who virtually controlled the rivers by night and terrorized most daytime traffic. Now 90 of the boats maintain 24-hour patrols of the Mekong, the Bassac and other major waterways.

In the delta they are apt to run into Communist fire from almost any shoreline. Recently Red Gunners wounded one entire crew with a recoilless rifle round. The Viet Cong also like to lure the boats close to river banks and rake them with pellets from claymore mines suspended in trees.

Under the circumstances, the crews tend to beef up the normal armament. When boat captain Norman Booker, 23, a ship-fitter from National City, Calif., set out on his last patrol after a

Rosendale Clinic

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the town clerk's office, Rosendale on Thursday, Aug. 10, at 1-3 p. m.

The clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administration of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

In order to avoid overcrowded clinics, an appointment is required for admission to these clinics. Please contact your public health nurse for an appointment at the Marbletown Health Center between 9 and 10 a. m., Monday through Friday.

year's tour of duty his craft carried its normal firepower of three .50-caliber machine guns and an automatic grenade launcher. It was beefed up with 60 light machine guns, a light mortar and two hand-held grenade launchers. These, of course, added to individual weapons such as grenades, knives, M16 rifles and pistols.

All of this firepower has given the little PBRs—propelled by water jets up to 30 miles per hour—a large measure of control over rivers where the Viet Cong previously moved with relative ease.

Tedious Effort

They carry a small radar set and a secret electronic starlight telescope which magnifies available light and gives amazing nighttime visibility. Operating in pairs, crews cut engines at night and float downstream, scanning the river with radar and telescope until they catch a guerrilla band. Then they dash upon it at full speed with all guns ablaze.

The daytime patrols — when rivers are bursting with sampan traffic—have become the tedious major effort.

Thousands of peaceful-looking sampans are stopped daily. A South Vietnamese policeman checks identities and searches the sampans. When a sampan tries to evade such searching operations it generally turns out to be Viet Cong and frequently opens fire. Sometimes the guerrillas dive into the rivers and abandon their craft.

Vehicle Hits Pole, Driver Continues

An unknown driver early this morning smashed his station wagon into a utility pole on Abel Street and left the scene before police could arrive, it was disclosed today.

According to information on file at police headquarters, officers received a report at 5 a. m. informing them of the mishap.

Police said they investigated but the vehicle could not be located.

The informant noted the car was a station wagon.

Span's Traffic, Take Up

According to statistics released by the New York State Bridge Authority for July, traffic and revenue traversing the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge is up, compared to July of 1966.

But the other bridges listed with the authority are not doing as well as last July, especially financially.

The authority reports that 189,626 autos crossed the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge during July compared to 184,636 a year ago. Revenue totaled $51,395.50 against last year's $50,015.45. Nearly a three per cent rise in both categories was reported.

The Newburgh-Beacon Bridge listed the highest percentage traffic gain over last year. A whopping 364,395 cars paid receipts during July compared to only 291,982 during July of 1966.

However, due to the drop in fare of that bridge, monies collected amounted to $98,996 compared to last July's figure of $148,079. The fare was reduced 25 cents a car.

Traffic mounting the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie has dropped considerably, according to the survey. Statistics show that 416,883 crossed this July, but that 432,894 crossed a year ago.

The Mid-Hudson collected $110,721 during July, but last July $116,756 was collected, a decrease of $6,035.

Bear Mountain Bridge also slipped statistically. The figures show that this July 232,860 autos crossed compared to last July's total of 238,742. Money collected amounted to $61,153 compared to July of 1966's total of $62,666.

And finally Rip Van Winkle Bridge, connecting Hudson and Catskill, reported overall gains to end on a happy note. The bridge reported 189,178 crossings compared to last year's July figure of 188,821. Finances collected totaled $55,124 to offset a year ago's total of $53,998.

Unused Tomb

A tomb was built beneath the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington, D. C., for the express purpose of holding the remains of George Washington and his wife, but the tomb was never used.

Resnick Calls Rocky Into Rosendale Foray

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, dissatisfied with town handling of a controversy in Rosendale, has called upon Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to investigate.

The action stems from the complaint of a Marbletown resident against town constable, Donald DePuy.

The constable while on duty July 2 stopped a station wagon containing 14 teenagers. No charges were made against the driver at that time.

However, at a later date, the driver, William Sparnaro Jr. of Cottekill, Town of Marbletown, was arrested on charge of driving after dark with a junior license which constitutes driving without a license. He is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Raymond LeFever Monday night.

In the meantime, complaints were lodged by the teenagers and some of their parents, including the father of the driver.

They accused DePuy of being abusive when he apprehended the overloaded vehicle. The matter was reviewed at the July 5 town board meeting, with some of the complainants in attendance. It was decided the constable acted in accordance with his duty and no further action was necessary. Vote was four to nothing with one board member not present. Shortly after the meeting, the congressman's office sent a letter to Supervisor Gerard DeFelice requesting action on the complaints. The supervisor reported the findings of the town board and on July 31, the Democratic Congressman from Ellenville sent off his request to Governor Rockefeller. The letter was read at the August meeting of the Rosendale Town Board, and it was again decided no further action was necessary.

Mrs. Croswell, Pres. Republican Club Attends Conference

Mrs. Lee Roy Croswell, president, and Mrs. Elsa Dicken, member, represented Ulster County Republican Women's Club at the annual summer conference of the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs of New York State, held at Elmira July 27-28.

More than 400 women gathered from all over the state at the conference, including delegates from Ulster County. The state federation, having begun in 1937 with two clubs, now has more than 425 clubs and is the second largest state organization in the nation.

Highlights of this conference included a kick-off workshop which was geared to giving club presidents a briefing and brush-up course in the mechanics and organizational function of a club. There was a panel of women-in-office and women who had run for elective office, each discussing the trials and rewards for a woman seeking to enter government or political life. Emerging from the discussions was the paramount theme: "More Women Needed in Public Office." A successful political workshop project was presented and the potential of publicity in campaigning on local levels was a major point in one of the presentations.

Gladys O'Donnell, president-elect of the National Federation of Republican Women, made her first speech before a New York Conference. She urged unity and the widened, "Republican Horizons for 1968," in her speech. Mrs. O'Donnell was joined on the dais by Charles Schoeneck, Republican state chairman, who spoke to the women about "your potential for engineering a great switch in."

Governor Nelson Rockefeller talked on the Transportation Bond Issue, and stated, "It is essential for New York State to maintain the mobility the modern world demands in mass transportation. The Governor was introduced by State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Presiding over the conference brimming with "political know-how," and aiming for a sweep to victory in 1968, Wilma C. Rogalin, federation president, said she felt this had been an excellent meeting and that the "women return to their local communities stimulated by new ideas and confident their work will lead to victory."

Community Needs Studied by YWCA

Mrs. Jenie Krevolin, associate director of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., was a recent guest at a meeting of the YWCA Long Range Planning Committee of which Mrs. Henry Eighmey is chairman. Mrs. Krevolin discussed with the group community needs which her work has revealed and explored with them possible areas of service for the YWCA.

Needed in the area are day care centers, family counseling and traffic safety education, according to Mrs. Krevolin.

Also discussed was a recommendation made by national YWCA in line with its program priority on Work and Leisure. The YWCA's provide more interesting and meaningful activities for youth such as training courses which can make after school jobs possible. A very new course suggested for boys and girls in training in skills such as party aides. After being trained these young people could work in teams in private households needing help for special occasions such as teas and coffee parties, buffet suppers and children's parties. The local YWCA has received from National a guide for teaching this course and will investigate the possible need for such aides. If a demand is indicated, the establishing of such a course will be explored.

All suggestions considered at this meeting will be referred to the Board of Directors at its September meeting. The YWCA, a Community Chest Agency, welcomes program suggestions and requests for courses. Its fall schedule will be announced in the future.

An Idea for Those Who Enjoy Decorating
I enjoy getting letters from readers concerning helpful or unusual ideas, and hasten to share with you those which I think might inspire others. The following suggestion is extremely practical and would enhance the charm of a gracious room.

Folk Singer Killen In Woodstock Monday, August 7

Folk singer, Louis Killen, will appear at Woodstock Playhouse, Monday evening, for a one-night performance.

Born in Gateshead-on-Tyne in 1934, he comes of a singing family. Singing sessions were the major form of family entertainment in his childhood. But it was not until his late teens that he became consciously aware of "folksong" and not until 1957, when he was associated with a group of traditional song enthusiasts in Oxford, did he become aware of the full artistic force of the folksong of this country. In 1958 he helped form, "Folk-song and Ballad-Newcastle," now one of the most important clubs in Britain where traditional song is authentically performed. Since then, his own work has become more and more a living act of recreation. For the last few years he has been singing folksongs in clubs, on radio, television, and in concerts, and has gained a national reputation without making any concessions to commercialism in his manner of performance.

He stamps each performance with his own musical individuality and dynamism through keeping to the disciplines of traditional singing, a paradox which is the basis of the serious folksong revival.

PETIT MAL IS BLACKOUT WITH EPILEPTIC LINK
By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is petit mal? What causes it? Is there any cure?
A—A petit mal attack is a momentary blackout associated with the milder form of epilepsy. In the typical full-scale or grand mal attack the victim utters a cry, loses consciousness, drools or froths at the mouth and breathes heavily with snoring sounds. After either type of seizure the victim has no recollection of what went on during the spell. The cause is unknown but heredity is believed to be a factor.

In different persons various precipitating factors have been observed, such as exposure to flickering light, watching television, the discharge of a flash bulb, loud noise, monotonous music or sudden fright. There is no cure but most cases can be controlled with anticonvulsant drugs.

Q—Is Dilantin given only for epileptic spells? Could a woman have a seizure?
A—A clonic convulsion is one in which there is alternate contraction and relaxation of muscles as distinguished from a tonic convulsion in which the contraction persists. Epileptic convulsions are clonic. A person with this disease is likely, unless it is under control with drugs, to have repeated seizures but there is no set pattern to the interval between attacks. Although all barbiturates are habit-forming there are some forms of epilepsy for which they should be taken indefinitely.

When I bought my living room curtains I bought an extra pair to redecorate with. I used them to recover old pillows and I still had enough to remake my lamp shades, and to make a few fabric roses for the glass bowl on my television set.

Everyone that comes to my home asks me where I get my ideas. Really I couldn't tell you, they just come to me when I am watching television or sewing. So I try them and fortunately most of them look very well.—Fran English.

On the Use of Tablecloths

Dear Mr. Post: Several months ago we were told that it is incorrect to use a tablecloth for the serving table at an open house (as distinguished from a reception) and more recently we were told that a cloth is not used at a coffee (in contrast to a tea). We could find no mention of either case in several etiquette books on hand and, in fact, wonder if our sources are correct since a cloth does serve to protect the table, whatever its use. We would like to know the correct procedure as there does appear to be dissension in our community on this suggestion.—E. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: I do not think your sources are correct. I have never heard of any rule against using a cloth if one wishes to, at either an open house or a "coffee." The only thing to be said is that the cloth possibly appears more formal and therefore its use depends on the atmosphere you want to create.

Bank Account for Bride and Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: My granddaughter is to be married soon. I wish to give her a pass book at a bank with a sizeable sum. Do I address it to her alone or do I include her fiancé?—Ruth Burns.

Dear Mrs. Burns: There is no fixed rule. It depends entirely on whether you wish to give the money to them jointly, or to the bride personally. The bank will open the account either way—in your granddaughter's name or as a joint account.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. A—Diphenylhydantoin (Dilantin) is an anticonvulsant drug used chiefly to prevent grand mal seizures. It may also be used for other convulsive disorders. Epilepsy usually starts in childhood but some types, especially those caused by an injury to the head or disease of the blood vessels of the brain, may start at any age.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The name of the game these days is travel. Everyone is on the move.

Whether the holiday you plan this summer will take you away for a long or short period, you'll find your trip can be more fun if you take a little time to organize what you'll need in the way of clothing, accessories and sporting equipment.

Choose smart, roomy, lightweight luggage that's rugged enough to withstand rough handling. One new collection is molded from tough Tenite polypropylene plastic in blue, lizard, red, charcoal and white. And the 26-inch Pullman case weighs only nine pounds. In addition, there is a beauty case and a 21-inch weekend case.

Keep these tips in mind when preparing for your trip. Make a list of what you think you'll need. Then review it to see what you can do without. If you're like most women you can easily cut the list in half before you start to pack.

Place heavy items at the bottom of the case. If you're plan-

Use the layer-method for filling the case, packing shoulders of one dress at one end of the case and shoulders of the next dress at the alternate end.

Ordinary rolls of plastic bags can be used for protecting individual pairs of stockings or gloves. The larger food-storage-sized plastic bags can be used for blouses and lingerie. Take extra bags along, too, for damp bathing suits after your "one last swim" before you leave your favorite resort.

Take along as many durable press garments as possible for these are easy to launder and need no ironing.

Remember that all garments should be buttoned and zipped before packing. Fold skirts and dresses in thirds lengthwise and place face down lengthwise in the case.

Take along a selection of little items too often forgotten, that can cause inconvenience if there is a need to shop for them. These include such things as a travel alarm, sewing kit, stick spot remover, sun glasses and extra film and flashbulbs for your camera.

Student Exhibition In Art Gallery

Art works created during the past academic year by student art majors at State University College, New Paltz, will be on exhibit at the College Art Gallery, Dr. Peter J. Bohan, Gallery director, announced today.

The exhibit consists of silver work, ceramics, two- and three-dimensional design and construction, and photographs, in addition to paintings, drawings, prints, and sculpture.

Bohan said this year's exhibition shows an increasing interest among students in the use of new art media and found objects to create imaginative and startling compositions. He said these transcend conventional categories of art such as painting, sculpture, and drawing. Gallery hours are 9 to 9 weekdays and 9-3 Saturday.

Children's Theatre Production Set

The Children's Theater production of Auran Harris's, "Androcles and the Lion," will be presented at the New Paltz College Theater from August 9 through 11 at 7 p. m. and on Saturday, August 12 at 2 p. m.

Admission will be free. The play is based on the legend of a lion with a thorn in his paw who was aided by a passerby, and will be presented in the style of a 17th Century Italian improvised comedy. Chase scenes, love affairs, and other action will take place in the background to give the play both a comical and colorful effect. This will be the third play both produced and directed by students in an experimental class at the college.

"Androcles and the Lion" is being produced by Marilyn Schuman and Ginger Licopoli. The cast includes Skip Bartz, Larry Rand, Sue Silversmith, Alan Pritchett, Richard Garrison, and Ann Kubik.

Other participants are: Ben Langwick, lighting director; Ann Kubik, set designer; Janus Adams, piano accompaniment, and Aileen O'Callahan, stage manager. Tickets may be obtained at the College Theater box office.

Visitors to New Paltz for "Red Carpet" week are welcome to attend.

LITTLE GIRLS like to take off for summer in cotton knits because they are cool and comfortable. Tank top (left) is boldly striped in strawberry, pistachio and vanilla to serve as a perfect topping for the pistachio nylon and cotton knit shorts. Green and white T-shirt (right) with rickrack trim is teamed with hipster pants with a wide leather pull-through belt. These are Aileen Girl designs.

OF PRIME CONSIDERATION for comfortable travel is slim, trim lightweight luggage. Venus collection by Gateway (left) is styled in Eastman's tough Tenite polypropylene, chosen for its durability and light weight. Model (right) packs systematically from a planned list so as to be sure she has forgotten nothing. Packing experts suggest you take this list with you to avoid leaving anything behind when you return.

Givenchy....Elegant Designs

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP)—Givenchy presented his many-splendored designs for elegant living today and launched a new silhouette for sports.

Throwing open his winter collection to fashion writers for the first time in five years during the regular haute couture season, Givenchy also developed his favorite ideas, which are always contemporary without being extreme. In recent years, Givenchy has awaited delivery of his models before showing to the press.

He continued his tunic dresses, figure-skimming unfitted sheaths and unbelted chemises belonging to high society and the grand ballroom.

His new sports line carried through in his hostess gowns and right into mid-day's bedroom. It is a one-piece playsuit with a wide, soft hemline leg reaching to the knee.

For sports alone, it appears in tweeds, wools and jersey. Under big and loose or beautifully tailored belted coats, they come forth in Givenchy's favorite dark forest green. They match the coat, which may be green window pane checked wool, or in a contrasting shade, such as a gray one with knee breeches under a grege moulton woolen chunky coat.

Other wool coats for sports go over workmen's overalls and are treated to buttoned down patch pockets in the back. On skirts flapped pockets are placed at the back in twosomes, and the same idea is carried out in coats.

A suit has saddle-bag suede pockets attached to the belt.

There is a belt story here. Many are shaped in a V-line in the back and sometimes dropped to the hips. Givenchy uses dark-brown suede for an ensemble with a fringed-out hemline worn over a suit-dress, with a grege top attached to the skirt.

Most all of the top-coated models go over what first appears to be a suit, but is a tailored packet and dress, detailed and belted often with matching hood and additional short ascot scarf tucked into the neckline. He uses bands of jeweled embroidery on hemlines, shoulder straps, necklines, and on plain fabrics, besides a number of all hemline worn over a suit-dress, sequin dresses and evening ensembles. Ultramarine blue is a favorite.

SU Soccer Coach Leaves

Al Miller Accepts Post at Hartwick

Al Miller, who guided State University at New Paltz to national repute in small college soccer, announced today he has accepted the head coaching position at Hartwick College in Oneonta.

Hartwick is rated among the top 10 colleges in Eastern soccer. In 1966 it captured the NCAA Atlantic Coast Eastern Regional tournament and has competed in the Nationals in three of the last seven years.

Miller said he was reluctant to leave New Paltz where he has been steadily building a soccer dynasty for the past six years, but the Hartwick offer was too great a challenge to pass up.

"I have enjoyed my stay at New Paltz," said Miller, "but this new post not only represents an advancement but is the greatest challenge of my coaching career."

Miller gave as an additional reason for accepting the Hartwick offer the fact that Jim Konstanty, former Philadelphia Phillies relief pitcher great, is athletic director there.

"Konstanty is one of the finest AD's in the business,"

Miller said, "and is interested in maintaining the big time soccer tradition at Hartwick."

Miller also coached golf briefly at Albright before coming to New Paltz.

In addition to his coaching activities in soccer and tennis at State U., Miller was a member of the crack Kingston Sport Club of the German-American Soccer Association. He has also been identified with the promotion of tennis in the area.

Miller, a graduate of East Stroudsburg, Pa. College, came to New Paltz six years ago to take over a team that hadn't won a game in two years. The first year under Miller the Hawks compiled a 2-6 record with wins over Army's B team and Sanbury. The team has had winning seasons ever since.

In 1963, New Paltz lost to Baltimore U. in the NCAA regional finals, then won the tournament in 1965.

Topnotch Athlete

An outstanding athlete at East Stroudsburg, Miller played varsity soccer and baseball for four years. He was captain of both sports in 1958 and 1959 he was named to the All-American team. In 1959 he tried out for the Olympic team and advanced to the final cut.

SU Soccer Coach Leaves

Al Miller Accepts Post at Hartwick

Al Miller, who guided State University at New Paltz to national repute in small college soccer, announced today he has accepted the head coaching position at Hartwick College in Oneonta.

Hartwick is rated among the top 10 colleges in Eastern soccer. In 1966 it captured the NCAA Atlantic Coast Eastern Regional tournament and has competed in the Nationals in three of the last seven years.

Miller said he was reluctant to leave New Paltz where he has been steadily building a soccer dynasty for the past six years, but the Hartwick offer was too great a challenge to pass up.

"I have enjoyed my stay at New Paltz," said Miller, "but this new post not only represents an advancement but is the greatest challenge of my coaching career."

Praises Konstanty
Miller gave as an additional reason for accepting the Hartwick offer the fact that Jim Konstanty, former Philadelphia Phillies relief pitching great, is athletic director there.

"Konstanty is one of the finest AD's in the business," said Miller, "and is interested in maintaining the big time soccer tradition at Hartwick."

Hartwick plays one of the toughest small college schedules in the country and next season's 10-game slate includes Army, Ithaca and Colgate, three top soccer powers.

In addition to his coaching activities in soccer and tennis at State U., Miller was a member of the crack Kingston Sport Club of the German-American Soccer Association. He has also been identified with the promotion of tennis in the area.

Kingston Sport Club introduces a brilliant, new toe against the powerful Shamrocks of New York in the finals of the Mid-Hudson Valley Soccer Tournament Sunday at Oehler's Mountain Lodge in West Hurley. Game time is 3:30 p. m.

Actually, it's not a debut. The young man — Tobe Elliott-Asare, from the African republic of Ghana, burst upon the Oehler scene in spectacular fashion last Sunday when he booted home all three goals in Kingston's 3-0 triumph over American Czechs.

Elliott-Asare was the freshman soccer standout at State University (New Paltz) this past season and Coach Al Miller is high on the young man's chances of eventually developing into a professional star.

He has since quit State University to enter Howard University, one of the nation's leading soccer schools in Washington.

Ventriglia Returns
Manager Bob Graves will have a plethora of talent with All-America Gene Ventriglia due back from the Pan American games in Winnipeg and Al Miller, State U. coach back in the lineup.

Other regulars available include Timo Liekoski at goalie; fullbacks Lee Roberts and Bill Newmershinsky (converted from a forward); halfbacks Ron Biggers, Winnie Soddermann and Jake Fros, another newcomer who learned the trade in South America.

Veteran Reiner Schwebel, one of the club's all-time greats, will be in the starting lineup. Richie Lotze and Nick Alexander give Manager Graves better than average reserve material.

Area fans can expect two outstanding games, starting with the 1:30 p. m. consolation opener between Spring Valley and American Czechs.

Kingston blanked the Czechs, 3-0, last Sunday and Shamrocks topped Spring Valley by the same margin. The two finalists are evenly matched and a rousing battle is expected.

Packers Picked By 12 Points

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the most talented College All-Star squads in history takes on the Green Bay Packers tonight in the 34th annual midsummer football classic.

The Packers, champions of all professional football, have been installed two-touchdown favorites in the Soldier Field showdown which will be televised nationally.

An expected crowd of more than 60,000 will watch the Packers operate for the first time in years without the services of Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, their great running backs.

Hornung has retired, and Taylor played out his option and is now a member of the New Orleans Saints. They'll be replaced by Elijah Pitts and Donny Anderson while steady Bart Starr will be directing the team from the vital quarterback slot.

The Packers, who captured the National Football League title and went on to win the Super Bowl by defeating American League champion Kansas City, will have the same defense which stifled the collegians last year.

Attempting to crack the Packers' defenses will be either Steve Spurrier of Florida or Bob Griese of Purdue, two of the finest passers in the collegiate ranks last season.

Coach Johnny Sauer will wait to the last minute to decide on which of the two will start. Once he has made his choice, Sauer insists he will play the hot hand.

If neither is able to make the talented Stars go, Sauer might shift to Houston's Bo Burris who has been working out as a defensive back.

The All-Stars are loaded with talented receivers including the likes of Jack Clancy of Michigan, flanker Rod Sherman of Southern California, Gene Washington of Michigan State and Dave Williams of Washington who caught a couple of bombs in last week's 23-22 scrimmage loss to the Chicago Bears.

Nob Hill and Bye Bye Pat Parker Picks

MONTICELLO—Although tonight's Rube Parker Pace for two-year-olds will go in two divisions, the total purse of $22,290 will be the richest ever offered at the Mighty M. Another Grand Circuit test, the Parker was split when 3 freshman amblers were named.

Six will go in the first division as the evening's fourth race and Nob Hill from the power-packed Bill Haughton string has drawn the 5-2 favorite's role. Seven, including a Haughton entry, draw swords in the second division which will be contested as the night's sixth race and undefeated Bye Bye Pat also rates a 5-2 top billing.

Chief Haughton assistant Bill Vaughn will rein Nob Hill who is owned by Louis and Connie Mancuso of Deer Park, N. Y. Vaughn takes the strapping son of Hi Hill-Cutie Hill away from the select rail spot with the Sunday Man, Warren M. Byrd, buzzing Hanover, Steal Home and Warrior Hanover the foes.

Clint Hodgins, who has won two Grand Circuit stakes in two starts at the Mighty M this week, owns, trains and drives Bye Bye Pat. Hodgins, who also bred the son of Bye Bye Byrd-Patricia Rhythm, will be shooting for three in succession from the four post against Frosty Dream, Nevad, Meadow Gaffer, Adios Stanley, Bye Bye Gene and Holly Sand.

Western Opens With 3-Way Tie

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Stanton was on the practice tee until nightfall sharpening up for Friday's second round of the $102,000 Western Open.

The lanky, 21-year-old Sydney, Australia, pro is in the heat of a par-shattering battle to hold on to his share of the lead in a chase for a $20,000 first prize.

He and Bob Verwey, 26, of Johannesburg, South Africa and Labron Harris, 25, son of Oklahoma State's golf coach, headed the first round Thursday on Beverly Country Club's par 71 battleground with 66s.

Verwey, brother-in-law of Gary Player and runner-up in last week's Minnesota Classic, credited a new putting grip in a 27-putt performance.

Stanton, whose best finish on the PGA tour so far has been a tie for seventh in the Flint Open, said "I just putted well and was rewarded."

Harris, the 1962 National Amateur champion who never has been better than a fifth place finish on the tour, set a PGA putting record for this year. He had nine successive one-putt greens and totalled 25 putts for the distance.

Steve Oppermann, like Stanton, seeking his first tourney victory, came in with a 67 while veterans Julius Boros and Don January had 68s.

The eight 69-shooters included amateur Marty Fleckman who led the first and third rounds of the recent National Open before folding with a final 80.

Defending champion Billy Casper slipped to 74. National Open winner Jack Nicklaus bogeyed the last three holes for a 72. Arnie Palmer lost a ball in a giant oak tree on the 18th fairway to finish with a double bogey seven for a 72.

Majors Reject Division Play

By KEN HARTNETT
CHICAGO (AP) — The American League has failed to get past first base with a proposal for divisional play—a plan that could have led to the first restructuring of big league baseball since 1901.

Tradition-minded National League owners, pleading that they lacked time for study, shunted the proposal aside Thursday at the close of two days of meetings.

"The main objection was that we didn't have notice of this thing," said Warren Giles, president of the National League after the tabling of a proposal unanimously approved by the 10 American League club owners.

Giles listed other objections, including the belief that creation of eastern and western divisions within the major leagues would be too much of a departure from the traditional method of deciding pennant races.

Under the American League plan, Boston, New York, Baltimore, Washington and Cleveland would form an Eastern Division with Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, California and Kansas City forming the western half.

The Western and Eastern champions would meet in a playoff to decide the league champion under an arrangement similar to professional football's.

The winner here goes to Fairbanks, Ala., for the Babe Ruth League World Series beginning Aug. 17.

Red Sox Hoping Elston Howard Will Even Books

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (AP) — Nearly a half century ago the Boston Red Sox pulled one of baseball's biggest boners—peddling George Herman "Babe" Ruth to the New York Yankees.

Ruth, employed mainly as a pitcher with the Red Sox, became a full-time outfielder with New York and went on to become the greatest home run slugger in history.

The Red Sox never could forget the infamous deal. Even after Tom Yawkey bought the club in 1933, the Boston front office feared trades with the Yankees.

However, time and changing personnel have mellowed feelings.

Back in 1952, when virtually eliminated from the American League pennant fight, the Red Sox sent right-hander pitcher Ray Scarborough, then 35, on waivers to the Yankees.

Although past his prime, Scarborough turned in several fine performances and helped New York win the pennant.

A young catcher, Elston Howard, came along three years later and helped the Yankees to a flock of championships. Now the Red Sox hope the Yankees have reciprocated by dealing them Howard during Boston's pennant drive.

The Yankees, buried deep in the second division while on a rebuilding kick, sent Howard, now 38, to the Red Sox Thursday for the $20,000 waiver price and two players to be named after the season.

Howard, who is drawing an estimated $50,000 salary, has seen limited action this season, hitting only .197.

Howard enjoyed his best season in 1961, hitting .348 with 21 homers in 129 games.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Michael Kreis of Beverly Hills, Calif., upset sixth-seeded Brian Gottfried of Cape Coral, Fla., 7-5, 6-1 Thursday in the fourth round of the 16-and-under category of the National Junior Boys championships.

He SANFORD Stakes was first run in 1913. The 1919 race is legendary for it was then the incomparable MAN O' WAR suffered the ONLY defeat on an otherwise perfect record. He was beaten by the aptly named UPSET 4.

Local Lawyer Takes Part in National Meet

Attorney Norman Kellar of Kingston was among the top trial lawyers who participated in the nation's largest legal "teach-in," held from July 23 to July 29 in Minneapolis.

Law and its effect on millions of Americans daily—in the battle against poverty and crime, the mounting death and injury toll on our highways and the vast and untested drugs, medicines and industrial machines—is the No. 1 "happening" in America today.

Sponsored by the 25,000-member American Trial Lawyers Association in its 21st national convention, the teach-in stressed the integral part the legal profession must play in the vast social and industrial changes occurring in America today and the necessity for the legal profession to be sufficiently knowledgeable to meet the new challenges and secure the welfare for the public good and the nation's progress.

Climber Engulfed By Beloved Peaks

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—One climbed mountains "to look at the sky and the rock and the snow and the flowers."

"For the past 10 years my first love has been climbing," another wrote.

"I won't let life pass me by, and when my tide comes I will be ready to take it at the flood," wrote Stephen Taylor, 22, of Chicago.

Taylor's tide engulfed him on the icy slopes of Alaska's Mt. McKinley before he had a chance to conquer the 20,320-foot peak.

Two of his companions also are dead. Four others are missing, and probably lie buried, perhaps forever, under a 10-foot blanket of snow left by a two-day storm this week.

Taylor's body was found at 17,900-foot camp where he had been forced to stay because of altitude sickness when the six others began their successful ascent July 18. Their radioed "all's well" from the summit was the last word heard from them.

The bodies of two of them, still unidentified, were found a few hundred feet from Taylor's on a ridge. All three will remain on the mountain since the terrain makes removal too hazardous.

In addition to Taylor, the climbers were Jerry Clark, 31, Mark McLaughlin 23, and John Russell 22, all of Eugene, Ore. Henry Jones, 25, Lafayette, Ind., and Portland, Ore., Dennis Luchterhand, 23, Scarsdale, N.Y., and Walter Taylor, 24, Lafayette, Ind.

The climbers, unknown to each other previously, exchanged letters which Russell put into a scrapbook, now in the possession of Mrs. David Soderberg of Seattle.

Lindsay Favors State Takeover Of All Welfare

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor John V. Lindsay hopes the state will take over the city's $265-million share of yearly welfare costs, as proposed at the Constitutional Convention, but is pessimistic the idea will be approved.

"This is a burden that should be carried totally by the federal government and the state," Lindsay said Thursday at a news conference.

The government and the state make up the difference for the present annual welfare cost of about $913 million.

Anthony J. Travia, president of the convention and a Brooklyn Democrat, proposed Wednesday that the state assume financial and administrative responsibilities for all local welfare programs.

Republican leaders immediately charged the proposal was insincere and dubbed it "pious political posturing."

Lindsay said there was a "chance" that Travia's proposal would be adopted, but added: "I won't say there is a great chance."

The city money saved would be spent on housing, education and hospital needs, Lindsay said.

Mr. Plitt's appointment is effective immediately, according to David S. Hollingsworth, director of paper chemicals sales for Hercules' Pine & Paper Chemicals Department.

An account supervisor in the Kalamazoo office for the past year, Mr. Plitt has been with Hercules since his graduation from the University of Virginia in 1952. He served as a chemist at Hercules' Research Center, near Wilmington, for three years and then held a series of technical sales posts in the company's home office, in Wilmington, and at Monroe, La., before his transfer to Kalamazoo in June, 1966.

Meanwhile, Donald H. Sheffield, vice president and member of the Board of Directors, has been assigned responsibility for coordination and development of the company's Western states interests.

The West Coast area, comprising 11 states, is of major importance to Hercules. All departments of the company sell through four Western sales offices, and three departments have producing plants in this area. In addition, Haver Industries Inc. and Haskon Inc., wholly owned subsidiaries, have sales offices and plants located in the Western area.

Sheffield will explore growth opportunities for Hercules in the dynamic and important markets of the West. He will operate from the Wilmington Home Office in order to maintain the essential close contact with company and department management.

Mr. Sheffield, in his 38 years with Hercules, has held many major positions, including general manager of the Board of Village Super Markets Inc., has announced record sales and earnings for the first half of 1967.

Unaudited sales for the 25-week period ended June 24, 1967 totaled $14,282,562, a 12.7% increase over last year's record sales of $12,661,815 for the same period.

Village operators of seven Shop-Rite Supermarkets and one discount center in Northern New Jersey, reported an unaudited net income after taxes of $266,397, a 35.9% increase over last year's income of $196,029 for this period. Earnings per share for the first half year were 53 cents, an increase of 14 cents over the 39 cent figure for the same period last year.

Sumas reported that plans are underway for the construction of the largest supermarket in the company's history. He also reported that negotiations, although still in the exploratory stage, are underway to purchase several existing Shop-Rite Supermarkets. If these plans are completed, the company's sales volume and profits will be greatly increased.

For the first twenty-one weeks of the company's current fiscal year, through July 22, sales were $354,829,718, an increase of 7.2 per cent over sales of $331,026,716 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Boxing Tourney Pleases Terrell

HOUSTON (AP)—Ernie Terrell, one of the four heavyweight fighters participating in Saturday's Astrodome boxing doubleheader, says any of the contestants would make an excellent champion.

Terrell fights Thad Spencer in one of the 12-round nationally televised bouts. Louis Martin meets Jimmy Ellis in the other.

The doubleheader kicks off an eight-man elimination tournament to select a World Boxing Association heavyweight king to succeed Cassius Clay.

The WBA stripped Clay of his title when he refused to be inducted into the Armed Services. He was sentenced to five years in prison and is presently free under bond while appealing.

The other quarter-final matches are scheduled later this year, with Karl Mildenberger meeting Oscar Bonavena in Frankfurt, Germany and Floyd Patterson meeting Jerry Quarry in Los Angeles.

"The eight-man tournament is a fair way to decide the championship," said Terrell, former WBA champion, "It should have the blessing of everyone."

"I have no malice against any of these fighters. Any of them would make an excellent champion," he told a news conference Thursday.

Saratoga Mark Set by Gamely

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Gamely is the latest horse in the more than century-old history of Saratoga Race Track to hold a track record — and it couldn't have come at a better time.

The 3-year-old filly turned in a 1:21.45 for seven furlongs to defeat Wageko by six lengths in the first division of Thursday's Test at Saratoga.

Gamely's time clipped one-fifth of a second off the previous record set by Up Scope in 1961. She paid $11.60. Favored Just Kidding was third.

In the second division, Treacherous beat Silver True by 1 1/2 lengths in 1:23 and returned $10. Green Glade was third. The winners received $15,000 plus for victories in the Test, the first of Saratoga's three stake races for 3-year-old fillies.

Today, Mako is favored in the feature, the 8th running of the Beverwyck Steeplechase over 2.16 miles for a purse of $15,000 added. Spooky Joe is the second choice.

Flood Has Lots Ground to Cover

CHICAGO (AP)—Curly Flood figures he's got a lot of catching up to do if the St. Louis Cardinals are going to win the National League pennant and the dandy center fielder is wasting no time.

Flood, who came off the disabled list last Friday, and teammate Lou Brock led a doubleheader assault against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday as the Cardinals recorded 4-2 and 7-1 victories to move 5 1/2 games in front of the second-place Cubs.

Only 10 days ago the Cardinals and Cubs were tied for the league lead but St. Louis has since taken eight of nine games including five from the Cubs.

Flood has been a big factor in the surge and in the seven games he has played since recovering from an injured shoulder, he has collected 14 hits in 28 official at bats. He was a torrid 10-for-17 against the Cubs as the Cardinals won three of four.

"We got to win this thing and I've got a lot of catching up to do," said Flood, who has boosted his average 17 points to .321 since returning to the line-up.

"I feel we're going to win the pennant," he added, "but I guess that doesn't make me much of a prophet now that we're 5 games in front."

Brock banged out six hits in the doubleheader sweep.

Dog Handcuffed

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—A woman caller pleaded to the police switchboard operator. "We can't get the handcuffs off the dog. Please come and see if you can get the cuffs off."

After some head shaking policeman Haywood Honeycutt was sent to the residence Thursday to investigate. He found a sleeping 4-year-old dachshund with an old pair of handcuffs clamped about his neck and one forepaw.

Honeycutt's handcuff key didn't fit so he called for another policeman with a key to an older set of cuffs. This key worked.

Through it all, a 3-year-old boy whose father once had been a deputy sheriff watched from inside the house. He had been playing cops and robbers with the puppy and the old cuffs.

Dear Abby

It's Best to Forget It

DEAR ABBY: Here is my problem: A young woman who lived across the hall from my husband and me came over for coffee. I asked my husband to go to the doughnut shop for something to go with the coffee. This neighbor asked him if she could go along for the ride. (Two blocks away.) Coffee was made, and the time passed. I was going out of my mind wondering what had happened to them. If they'd had a smashup I would have heard the ambulance. Two hours later they came back. He had lipstick on his mouth, and her blouse was all wrinkled up. They said they had "car trouble." She went home in a hurry, and my husband said the lipstick must have got on him when he took a few drags of her cigarette. Later he admitted they kissed a few times, but he said, "What can a guy do when a woman falls all over him?" Abby, I am heartsick. This happened 16 years ago, and I can't forget it. He's been a good husband, father, and grandfather. We've moved four times since then, but I'm still tormented. Do you think he was unfaithful? TORMENTED DEAR ABBY: Your husband's "unfaithfulness" probably began and ended with a few kisses and a lot of conversation. You can forget by not dwelling on it. And that shouldn't be too difficult after 16 years of good married life.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and I are planning her wedding. She telephoned a dear friend (I'll call her Myrtle) who lives in another city, and asked her to be maid of honor. Myrtle accepted and was invited to come for a visit and make further plans. We hadn't seen Myrtle in a year, and when we saw her we were both flabbergasted. She had lost her lovely figure and looked like a blimp. (She must have gained 50 pounds.)

All day yesterday we shopped for a gown that would correspond with those the other attendants were wearing, but we couldn't find a thing to fit Myrtle. We hate to hurt her feelings, but the lovely wedding we have dreamed of will be ruined if we let Myrtle be the maid of honor. Is there some gracious way we can get out of this?

BRIDE'S MOTHER DEAR ABBY: I know of no "gracious" way to tell a friend that you've changed your mind because she's changed her figure.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST for Saturday, August 5, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Your creative abilities are emphasized. There is need to be flexible. Take initiative without being pugnacious. Some close to you want to dominate. This leads to controversy. Be calm.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Disputes affecting home, security are highlighted. Be receptive. You don't have to give up principles to be a good listener. Be fair. Stress materiality. Permit logic to dominate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Practical affairs demand attention. Includes job, home repairs, getting accounts in order. Discard advice of friend who counsels impulsive action. Take it slow and easy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Avoid excess speed. Be especially careful around house. Scattered objects, toys could be cause of accident. Know this and act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Cycle high. But persons who fear for their own security attempt to discourage you. Express views. Be analytical. Explain position. Older persons appear aggressive. Take it in stride.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Study CANCER message. You tend to overlook the obvious. This could lead to careless words, statements. Result might be costly. Highlight public relations. Weigh actions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take time to think. Friends and others are not qualified to advise you on some projects. Your personal desires today could change tomorrow. Realize this, play waiting game.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Direction is important. So is specific action. You have more power on your side than is evident. Know this and put best foot forward. Higher-ups now listen and acquiesce.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Influence spreads. Accent today on long-range plans, projects. Many who previously were indifferent now sit up and take notice. Utilize lessons learned from past experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Many wishes can be fulfilled. Best not to push or press issues. What you need will be available. This is largely due to efforts of others. Message very clear by tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Stress today on marriage, partnerships, legal efforts. What you do is apt to be made public. Be aware of this and accent discretion. One close to you reveals true thoughts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Indirect approach gets best results. Means be subtle. Don't show all cards. Keep some ammunition hidden. Pressure today with regard to work, health, recreation. Outline program.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a vital, dynamic individual, a natural showman, one who is capable of creating unique situations. At times you are also a master at creating your own problems. You're due for a breakthrough—for greater happiness, fulfillment.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LEO, VIRGO. Special word to TAURUS: argument over legal point could boomerang in your favor. (Copr. T.M. 1967, Gen. Fea. Corp.)

Take the Finesse to Insure Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn. There is one outstanding time to finesse. That is when you are in a slam contract and you are sure to make it, provided you take the finesse. Never mind about the fact that it is not likely to be necessary and may well cost you an overtrick. To paraphrase Shakespeare, "The slam's the thing."

When North showed an ace and a king South was tempted to go to a grand slam but he out temptation firmly behind him and settled for six. North didn't need seven sure club tricks for his vulnerable three-club bid.

He won the heart opening and counted up. He had six tricks in the three top suits. Six club tricks would give him his slam. The only thing for him to worry about would be a bad club break.

He led the three of clubs. West played the eight and for a moment South was going to play the jack from dummy. That would guard against any and all 2-2 and 3-1 club breaks. It would also produce a grand slam against all such breaks when West held the queen.

He thought for a moment. Then he thought for a second moment and realized that he wasn't interested at all in

It's Best to Forget It

DEAR ABBY: Here is my problem: A young woman who lived across the hall from my husband and me came over for coffee. I asked my husband to go to the doughnut shop for something to go with the coffee. This neighbor asked him if she could go along for the ride. (Two blocks away.) Coffee was made, and the time passed. I was going out of my mind wondering what had happened to them. If they'd had a smushup I would have heard the ambulance. Two hours later they came back. He had lipstick on his mouth, and her blouse was all wrinkled up. They said they had "car trouble." They forgot the doughnuts. She went home in a hurry, and my husband said the lipstick must have got on him when he took a few drags of her cigarette. Later he admitted they kissed a few times, but he said, "What can a guy do when a woman falls all over him?"

Abby, I am heartsick. This happened 16 years ago, and I can't forget it. He's been a good husband, father, and grandfather. We've moved four times since then, but I'm still tormented. Do you think he was unfaithful? TORMENTED DEAR ABBY: Your husband's "unfaithfulness" probably began and ended with a few kisses and a lot of conversation. You can forget by not dwelling on it. And that shouldn't be too difficult after 16 years of good married life.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter and I are planning her wedding. She telephoned a dear friend (I'll call her Myrtle) who lives in another city, and asked her to be maid of honor. Myrtle accepted and was invited to come for a visit and make further plans. We hadn't seen Myrtle in a year, and when we saw her we were both flabbergasted. She had lost her lovely figure and looked like a blimp. (She must have gained 50 pounds!)

All day yesterday we shopped for a gown that would correspond with those the other attendants were wearing, but we couldn't find a thing to fit Myrtle.

We hate to hurt her feelings, but the lovely wedding we have dreamed of will be ruined if we let Myrtle be the maid of honor. Is there some gracious way we can get out of this? BRIDE'S MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: I know of no "gracious" way to tell a friend that you've changed your mind because she's changed her figure.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

After insulting the girl's mother in public, the young student had the effrontery to call her daughter and ask for a date.
He is noted for his poor manners and outward effronteries. After his bitter review of the orchestra's opening night performance, the music critic had the effrontery to appear at the conductor's Christmas party.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST for Saturday, August 5, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Your creative abilities are emphasized. There is need to be flexible. Take initiative without being pugnacious. Some close to you want to dominate. This leads to controversy. Be calm.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Disputes affecting home, security are highlighted. Be receptive. You don't have to give up principles to be a good listener. Be fair. Stress maturity. Permit logic to dominate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Practical affairs demand attention. Includes job, home repairs, getting accounts in order. Discard advice of friend who counsels impulsive action. Take it slow and easy.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Avoid excess speed. Be especially careful around house. Scattered objects, toys could be cause of accident. Know this and act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Cycle high. But persons who fear for their own security attempt to discourage you. Express views. Be analytical. Explain position. Older persons appear aggressive. Take it in stride.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Study CANCER message. You tend to overlook the obvious. This could lead to careless words, statements. Result might be costly. Highlight public relations. Weigh actions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take time to think. Friends and others are not qualified to advise you on some projects. Your personal desires today could change tomorrow. Realize this, play waiting game.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Direction is important. So is specific action. You have more power on your side than is evident. Know this and put best foot forward. Higher-ups now listen and acquiesce.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Influence spreads. Accent today on long-range plans, projects. Many who previously were indifferent now sit up and take notice. Utilize lessons learned from past experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Many wishes can be fulfilled. Best not to push or press issues. What you need will be available. This is largely due to efforts of others. Message very clear by tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Stress today on marriage, partnerships, legal efforts. What you do is apt to be made public. Be aware of this and accept discretion. One close to you reveals true thoughts.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Indirect approach gets best results. Means be subtle. Don't show all cards. Keep some ammunition hidden. Pressure today with regard to work, health, recreation. Outline program.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a vital, dynamic individual, a natural showman, one who is capable of creating unique situations. At times you are also a master at creating your own problems. You're due for a breakthrough—for greater happiness, fulfillment.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LEO, VIRGO. Special word to TAURUS: argument over legal point could bode ill for your favor.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have two pre-school children, and when we need a sitter we ask our neighbor's teen-age son.

Lately we have noticed the smell of cigarette smoke in our house when we come home. We are sure this boy has been smoking without his parents' permission or knowledge.

What should we do? Should we tell his folks, or just mind our own business? We hate to see a boy of his age take up smoking and get the habit. We also hate to lose the services of a handy sitter, which is probably what would happen if we told his folks and they cracked down on him.

CONFUSED DEAR ABBY: Tell the boy you've been getting his smoke signals, and unless he is permitted to smoke in his own home, you don't want him smoking in yours.

Bridge

Take the Finesse to Insure Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is one outstanding time to finesse. That is when you are in a slam contract and you are sure to make it, provided you take the finesse. Never mind about the fact that it is not likely to be necessary and may well cost you an overtrick. To paraphrase Shakespeare, "The slams' the thing."

When North showed an ace and a king South was tempted to go to a grand slam but he got temptation firmly behind him and settled for six. North didn't need seven sure club tricks for his vulnerable three-club bid.

He won the heart opening and counted up. He had six tricks in the three top suits. Six club tricks would give him his slam. The only thing for him to worry about would be a bad club break.

He led the three of clubs. West played the eight and for a moment South was going to play the jack from dummy. That would guard against any and all 2-2 and 3-1 club breaks. It would also produce a grand slam against all such breaks when West held the queen.

He thought for a moment. Then he thought for a second moment and realized that he wasn't interested at all in making an overtrick but he wanted to make his slam.

Four clubs held by East would have beaten him but West had played one club. East couldn't have four clubs. That left the possibility that West had started with four clubs. West played the eight; would he play the eight from queen-ten-eight-deuce? Not likely but decidedly possible. South counted up once more, reached over to dummy, pulled out the nine and made sure of his contract. He also made his overtrick when East showed out.

BARBS

By WALTER C. PARKES

Fame is getting your name in the newspaper BEFORE you die.

These days, when dad sits down to discuss life with the kids, he's likely to get an earful.

Can you recall, in these days of LSD, when "taking a trip" meant going on a vacation journey?

There aren't many lawyers in this neck of the woods, but we have a lot of fellows who've been practicing at the bar for years.

Seven-year-old (to his father) — Before you married Mom, who told you how to drive?

Mrs. Smith — I want a man to do odd jobs about the house, run errands, one who never answers back, and is always ready to do my bidding.

Sam (the applicant as he backed down the steps) — You're looking for a husband, ma'am, not a servant!

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

In late 1966, about 15 per cent of the civilian labor force in the United States was employed by federal, state or local governments, says The World Almanac. This amounted to 11.5 million persons, of whom 4.4 million were employed in education.

New Looks for Old TV Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — During television's long, hot summer of reruns, programs are overhauled, repairs are made and remodeling undertaken. It can be as drastic as replacing a lead or as minor as capping the star's teeth.

Changes Inevitable

Changing is inevitable on successes. Children outgrow their parts. Actors get restless or stale and depart. Formats as well as sets get shabby from overuse.

Come September, many of the old shows will have new looks. "Mission: Impossible," on CBS, will arrive with a new head man, Steven Hill, who used to head the cloak-and-dagger teams, disappears and in his place appears Peter Graves, tall, husky real-life brother of "Gunsmoke" star James Arness.

Efram Zimbalist Jr., senior agent of ABC's "The FBI," will have a new young partner played by William Reynolds. Stephen Brooks, who helped round up the public enemies for two seasons, is awaiting his call to arms from another branch of government.

"Bonanza," on NBC, was loping along at the head of the television pack until it encountered CBS's Smothers Brothers at midseason. Its producers has decided it is time for some reinforcement. Thus there will be a new character, played by handsome young David Canary. It marks the first change on the Ponderosa since Pernel Roberts quit several seasons back.

Solo to Settle Down

Napoleon Solo of NBC's "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." will cease his compulsive philandering and settle down-at the start of the season anyway-to dates with one girl, the boss' secretary, played by Barbara Moore. There will henceforth be Batgirl helping out Batman and will be casting interested glances at Ellen McRae, and Old West career girl, when he's not busily salvaging ABC's "Iron Horse."

Hermione Baddeley, a fine British comedienne, will join the supernatural group of ABC's "Bewitched," playing the witchy nanny of the baby who was last season's format-freshener. Dr. Richard Kimble of "The Fugitive" will cease running and get acquitted of his wife's murder in the final two episodes which ABC will broadcast on Aug. 22 and 29. It will be the first time in any of the series built around a running or searching man that the public learns the outcome.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — During television's long, hot summer of reruns, programs are overhauled, repairs are made and remodeling undertaken. It can be as drastic as replacing a lead or as minor as capping the star's teeth.

Changes Inevitable
Changing is inevitable on successes. Children outgrow their parts. Actors get restless or stale and depart. Formats as well as sets get shabby from overuse.

Come September, many of the old shows will have new looks. "Mission: Impossible," on CBS, will arrive with a new head man, Steven Hill, who used to head the cloak-and-dagger teams, disappears and in his place appears Peter Graves, tall, husky real-life brother of "Gunsmoke" star James Arness.

Efram Zimbalist Jr., senior agent of ABC's "The FBI," will have a new young partner played by William Reynolds. Stephen Brooks, who helped round up the public enemies for two seasons, is awaiting his call to arms from another branch of government.

"Bonanza," on NBC, was loping along at the head of the television pack until it encountered CBS's Smothers Brothers at midseason. Its producers have decided it is time for some reinforcement. Thus there will be a new character, played by handsome, young David Canary. It marks the first change on the Ponderosa since Pernell Roberts quit several seasons back.

Solo to Settle Down
Napoleon Solo of NBC's "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." will cease his compulsive philandering and settle down-at the start of the season anyway-to dates with one girl, the boss' secretary, played by Barbara Moore.

There will henceforth be Batgirl helping out Batman and

Robinson on ABC. Dale Robertson last season's format-freshener. will be casting interested glances at Ellen McRae, and Old West career girl, when he's not busily salvaging ABC's "Iron Horse."

Hermione Baddeley, a fine British comedienne, will join the supernatural group of ABC's "Bewitched," playing the witchy nanny of the baby who was

Dr. Richard Kimble of "The Fugitive" will cease running and get acquitted of his wife's murder in the final two episodes which ABC will broadcast on Aug. 22 and 29. It will be the first time in any of the series built around a running or searching man that the public learns the outcome.

2,500 Exhibits From 4-H Due

4-H members throughout the county are busily preparing their exhibits for the Ulster County Fair to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 11, 12 and 13 at new fairgrounds at the County Farm and Home in New Paltz. Photos denote a few of the more than 2,500 4-H exhibits that are expected to be entered in the many 4-H departments.

The new fairgrounds at New Paltz offer many improvements for exhibit areas. The new facilities include a larger 4-H exhibit building which will display 4-H project exhibits in clothing, flowers, foods, handyman, 4-H club booths, electric and vegetables to name a few. These exhibits will be attractively displayed and will provide an interesting and educational view for the public. A large 150 x 300 foot horse ring has been constructed by the 4-H Light Horse Advisory Committee and Leaders and will be used for the 4-H Horse Show on Saturday, August 12th. 4-H Dairy Cattle, Beef, Sheep, Rabbits and other livestock will be housed in buildings. A stage platform has been set up for special programs such as the 4-H Dress Revue on Saturday, Aug. 12 at 6:30 p. m.

The Ulster County Fair is unique in being one of the few remaining educational fairs in the State with no admission fee. The Fair is conducted by the Ulster County Agricultural

Along with the many 4-H exhibits, many 4-H activities and events will be conducted during the three-day program. The majority of the 4-H Exhibits will be judged and displayed Friday morning, Aug. 11 as they arrive. Special programs include the 4-H Dairy Cattle Show, 4-H Beef Show on Friday, 4-H Home Show, 4-H and FFA Tractor Driving Contest, 4-H Sheep Show, 4-H Dress Revue on Saturday and 4-H members presenting demonstrations or "Show-hows" throughout the Fair. Judging clinics will be conducted in Dairy, Light Horse and Vegetables at which time many 4-Hers will participate. The 4-H Local Leaders will be manning a snack bar and foods throughout the Fair as well as the 4-H Council who will have a foods booth located near the Horse Ring.

A large number of open class entries and commercial exhibits are expected. A variety of educational exhibits will be displaying their wares for the public. It is expected the Open Horse Show on Sunday, Aug. 13 will be one of the largest in the Mid-Hudson Valley. The Ulster County Fair, with its many 4-H project exhibits and activities, the commercial and educational exhibits, will offer a program of interest for the whole family.

Second Offender

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Soviet trawler, seized last March for violating the 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone off the Alaska coast, was picked up for the same offense Thursday, the Coast Guard reported.

The STRM-8-457, a 180-foot refrigerated vessel, was seized by the Coast Guard cutter Avoyel 10 miles north of Akun Island in the Aleutians and taken under tow for Dutch Harbor.

"I am urging confiscation of this Russian trawler," Gov. Walter Hickel said.

The seizure was the third of a Soviet vessel in Alaskan waters in the past year. When the STRM 8-457 was taken off Seal Cape in March she was captained by Leonid M. Kushchenko, who was fined $10,000. It is not known who her skipper is now.

Killed in Crash

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y. (AP) — James Creem Jr., 35, of Astoria, Long Island, was killed early today when his automobile smashed into a signpost on the Interstate Route 87 Northway in the town of Malta, north of Albany.

State Police said Creem was southbound when he apparently lost control of his vehicle. He lived at 2206 38th Street.

Killed in Mishap

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — Lawrence Alexander, a Mohawk Airlines ticket agent, was killed early today when he was struck by a whirling propeller on a Mohawk plane that had gone off the runway at Richards Field here.

State Police said the flight, bound from New York to Massena had landed and left the runway, rolling about 150 feet.

Alexander, 20, and another Mohawk employee went to see if they could be of assistance, troopers said. The blades on the propeller of the FH227 Fairchild prop jet struck Alexander's chest and back.

Alexander had worked for Mohawk since early Spring. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Alexander of nearby Louisville.

There were six passengers in the craft — piloted by Capt. Vattal, 37, of Wilton, Conn. — when it left the runway. Nobody was injured, State Police said.

Cpl. Richard J. LaFlair, 19, of Lowville, southeast of Watertown, wrote those words in a letter to a sister. He had enlisted in the Marines on his 18th birthday.

The youth was to have returned home in November to be married.

The Pentagon also announced Thursday the death of Marine 2nd Lt. William A. Wilk, husband of Mrs. William A. Wilk of Utica.

Bus Service Planned To Stone Ridge Campus

Arrangements have been completed for a local bus company to provide public transportation for Ulster County Community College students going to the college's new Stone Ridge campus from both Kingston and Ellenville, President George B. Erbstein announced today.

The Stone Ridge campus, located eight miles southwest of Kingston, will be used for UCCC classes beginning next month. Presently, there is limited bus service along Route 209 between Kingston, Ellenville and Stone Ridge.

The Eagle Bus Lines presently has a franchise for the Public Service Commission for bus service along Route 209 between Kingston, Stone Ridge and Ellenville.

Arrangements for Eagle buses to provide increased service along this route were made after President Erbstein conferred with Thomas K. Wilson, the bus firm president, and pointed out a student need for public transportation.

A regular bus schedule will be drawn up so students needing public transportation will be able to attend all classes at the Stone Ridge campus, both in the day and evening. A special rate is contemplated for students and entering first year students indicated that many will need public transportation to travel to and from the Stone Ridge campus.

The bus company will send its buses to the UCCC campus, located just east of Route 209 in Stone Ridge, to pick up and discharge students.

"We at the college are pleased that a local public transportation company will offer this bus service," said President Erbstein. "This service will provide an opportunity for more students to attend UCCC and will meet an expressed need as indicated by our survey. Of course, continuation of service will depend upon the students' use of the buses."

Milwaukee, Providence Racial Outlook Eases

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee's curfew was eased today and Providence, R.I.'s police chief said he thought racial violence in his city was "over for this year."

These developments reflected a night of calm in the nation Thursday that produced little more trouble than some isolated rock-throwing and a shooting incident.

Nighttime Curfews
Police in both Milwaukee and Providence still enforced nighttime curfews but said the curfew would be reinstated at midnight tonight instead of 9 p. m.

Providence Mayor Joseph A. Doorley Jr. said he would make day-to-day decisions on retaining a "selective" curfew in South Providence.

Shotgun fire, flashing from a car that police said contained white youths, hit three Negro teenagers as they talked to Sheriff Vern Miller in Wichita, Kan. The youths were only slightly injured and police began a hunt for the gunmen.

Only in Wyandanch, N.Y., a predominantly Negro community on Long Island, were there continued problems. Police arrested nine youths when cars were hit with stones and bottles on a third night of scattered disturbances.

Some Guardsmen Leave
In Milwaukee, where four persons died and 70 were arrested since rioting broke out Sunday, firemen dodged rocks as they worked to put out a blaze. But the situation was judged calm enough for 1,300 of 4,800 National Guardsmen in the city to be withdrawn.

In Providence, the scene of sniper fire and firebombings Tuesday, Police Chief Howard A. Franklin said he thought the rioters "got it out of their system."

The Judiciary Committee testimony about the anti-poverty project may result in the loss of funds from the school, the director of the local anti-poverty agency said in Nashville. But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-

Mass., demanded documentation of the charges by Capt. John Sorce.

Wirtz Assails Two
Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz attacked Black Power advocates Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown by name in a Fort Worth, Tex., speech, and said, "The riots have got to stop or they've got to be stopped."

In Cincinnati, hit by rioting earlier in the summer, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee — the organization that Carmichael formerly directed and is now headed by Brown — filed suit in U.S. District Court.

SNCC asked that law enforcement officials in the city be restrained from enforcing statutes such as those that ban disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapons. They claimed the laws violated constitutional rights.

The Ohio Commission on Human Rights announced at the same time that it would look into a complaint that Dr. Martin Luther King and civil rights organizations violated state laws when they demonstrated against the Sealtest Dairy of Cleveland in an effort to get the firm to hire more Negroes.

And in a move seen in part as an attempt to ease tension in Newark, N.J., the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry has agreed not to claim for at least the next five years a large chunk of land in the city's riot-wrecked Central Ward.

Residents of the area had feared they might be forced out of the city without adequate relocation assistance if their homes were leveled to make way for a medical school project.

Perrine's at the Fair

Perrine's Bridge Committee, Inc., will have an exhibit at the Ulster County Fair in New Paltz, Aug. 11 to 13, and invites residents to submit paintings and photographs of the historic covered bridge at Rifton for display.

Artists and photographers may leave material for the display at The Kingston Savings Bank, 273 Wall Street, by Wednesday, Aug. 9, and the committee will transport them to New Paltz for the exhibit, according to Clifford A. Henze, treasurer of the bridge committee. After the Fair, the items will be returned to the bank, where they may be picked up by the owners.

Last year, Kingston Savings Bank invited artists to display paintings of the bridge in the bank window. The response was unexpectedly high, few people having realized that the covered bridge had been the subject of so many paintings. Henze said he hopes many who exhibited at that time will be exhibiting to display their works again this year at the County Fair.

Perrine's Bridge Committee is currently conducting a $45,000 fund raising campaign to save the unique span, which was built in 1850.

Pedals to Expo

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — Craig Nelson says he plans to give up long bicycle trips after he reaches Expo 67 at Montreal.

The trouble is, he has to pedal back to his home in Salt Lake City, Utah, in order to do it.

Long-distance bicycle riding is "a lot of work" that "wears you out," he said Thursday on the final leg of his final leg from Salt Lake City.

Nelson plans today to pedal across the Ogdenburg-Prescott International Bridge that connects this St. Lawrence River City with Canada. He said he hopes to spend several days there before returning home in time to resume studies at the University of Utah.

He peddled from Washington, D.C., to Seattle, Wash., last year, and, he says, "I just couldn't resist the idea this spring."

He was guest of Donald Ballou and his family Thursday night. Ballou is the general manager of Radio Station WSLB here.

Second Offender

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A Soviet trawler, seized last March for violating the 12-mile exclusive fisheries zone off the Alaska coast, was picked up for the same offense Thursday, the Coast Guard reported.

The STRM-8-457, a 180-foot refrigerated vessel, was seized by the Coast Guard cutter Avoyel 10 miles north of Akun Island in the Aleutians and taken under tow for Dutch Harbor.

"I am urging confiscation of this Russian trawler," Gov. Walter Hickel said.

The seizure was the third of a Soviet vessel in Alaskan waters in the past year. When the STRM 8-457 was taken off Seal Cape in March she was captained by Luomid M. Kushchenko, who was fined $10,000. It is not known who her skipper is now.

Killed in Crash

BALLSTON SPA, N. Y. (AP) — James Creem Jr., 35, of Astoria, Long Island, was killed early today when his automobile smashed into a signpost on the Interstate Route 87 Northway in the town of Malta, north of Albany.

State Police said Creem was southbound when he apparently lost control of his vehicle. He lived at 2206 38th Street.
